EXPULSION OF
5 SOCIALISTS
URGED IN N. Y.
ASSEMBLY

Seven, or Majority, of Committee, Recommend That Seats of Suspended Men Be Declared Vacant After Hearing on Charge of Disloyalty.

FIVE IN FAVOR OF RESEATING MEMBERS

Another Favors Reseating of Two and Unseating of Three; Majority Report Made Special Order for Tomorrow; Party Denounced.

By the Associated Press.
ALBANY, N. Y., March 30.—Branding the Socialist party as "an organization composed exclusively of perpetual traitors," a majority of the Judiciary Committee of the New York State Assembly, in a report to the Lower House today, recommended the expulsion of the five Socialist Assemblymen—August Claessens, Charles Solomon, Louis Waldman, Samuel Orr and Samuel A. Dewitt.

Chairman Martin, in submitting the report of the majority of the committee with the statements of those dissenting, moved that it be made a special order for tomorrow. By a rising vote the motion was carried, about a dozen members voting against it. It is expected the final vote will be taken Thursday.

Reports by Minority.
Seven of the 13 members of the committee signed the majority report. Minority reports dissenting from the finding of the majority, and recommending the reseating of the five men who were suspended pending an investigation of their loyalty and other qualifications, were filed by five other Republican and Democratic committee members.

Another committee member, James M. Lown, Republican, submitted a report recommending that Orr and De Witt be reseated, and that Claessens, Solomon and Waldman be expelled.

While no concerted action has been taken by those opposed to expulsion of the Socialists, Majority Leader Simon L. Adler of Monroe and Assemblyman Theodore Roosevelt of Nassau will speak and vote against that program.

"I cannot approve of the expulsion of the entire representation of a party from the Legislature," Col. Roosevelt said today. "Whatever I may do or say, I shall do so as an individual and not as a part of any movement agreed upon with others."

Adler, who, on the first day of the session, introduced the resolution for suspension of the Socialists, said his position was virtually the same as that of Col. Roosevelt. "I am not a party to any concerted action," he added.

The majority report of 20,000 words states that all the Socialists made against the Socialists, both in Speaker Swift's address on the opening day of the Legislature and in the Adler resolution referring them to the Judiciary Committee for investigation, have been sustained, recommending that the seats of the five men be declared vacant and urges enactment of legislation designed to deny political recognition to any party whose governing body or whose membership may include aliens.

BERGDOLL GETS 5 YEARS FOR EVADING THE DRAFT

Sentence at Hard Labor of Wealthy Philadelphian, Recently Courtmartialed, Is Effective Today—Forfeits Citizenship.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 30.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy young Philadelphian, recently courtmartialed for desertion because of his alleged failure to report for military service, under the draft, was sentenced to five years in prison, according to a decision of the court made public here today.

The sentence, effective today, is for hard labor in the jail at Governors' Island. In addition, Bergdoll's rights of citizenship are forfeited as a result of his conviction.

The findings of the courtmartial, which completed its work on March 17 last, were approved today by Lieutenant-General Robert Lee Bullard, commander of the Department of the East, and immediately communicated to Bergdoll, who has been in a cell at the island.

Bergdoll was guilty of desertion from Aug. 8, 1918, when he failed to report under the draft. He was arrested at his home in Philadelphia Jan. 7 last.

COURT AWARDS
MARTIN CHILD
TO HIS MOTHER

Judge Crow Terms Conduct of Mothers' and Babies' Home in Withholding Boy "Unwarranted."

"CANNOT MAKE CHILD SECURITY FOR BOARD"

Mrs. Martin Had Searched for Son Three Years After Being Told She Could Not See Him.

Circuit Judge Crow of Belleville, in awarding the custody of six-year-old Earl Martin to his mother, Mrs. Constance Martin of 4131 Maryland avenue, today rebuked the management of the Mothers' and Babies' Home, 6609 Washington boulevard, of which Mrs. T. R. Ayars, 5210 Washington boulevard, is president, for what he termed "an unwarranted proceeding in holding a human being as mortgage for a board bill."

"The law does not countenance the holding of a dumb brute as security for the payment of a board bill, much less the detention of a human being," Judge Crow added.

Mrs. Martin wept with joy when the boy was turned over to her and would not leave him until she had kissed him. The boy was taken from her when she was three years old, and she had searched for him for three years.

HOUSE CLERK WHO
SAVED $100,000,000
IS VOTED $10,000

John C. Pugh Removed Duplications From Naval Appropriations Measure.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—On efficiency clerk saved the Government $100,000,000 on a single appropriation bill. The House yesterday voted him $10,000 as his pay for services in two sessions of Congress.

The clerk, John C. Pugh, has been connected with the Naval Affairs Committee. A resolution for his pay was introduced by Chairman Butler of the committee and was brought before the House yesterday by Chairman Ireland of the Committee on Accounts, who said Chairman Butler had estimated the saving of the single employee at $100,000,000.

Chairman Ireland did not know how the saving had been made, but other members explained it was by removing duplications from the bill.

Minority Leader Clark questioned why the members of the committee had been "sitting around like knots on the log" while the clerk was eliminating duplications.

VIENNA PROFESSIONAL MEN TO GO BAREFOOT OF NECESSITY

Move Also Will Be in Protest Against Profiteers Fattening on Misery of Country.

By the Associated Press.
VIENNA, March 30.—A society comprising professional men and others whose incomes now are about the smallest in the country, has been formed to encourage barefootness among the people. They announce they will shortly begin to appear shoeless in public. Other dress reforms along lines of economy are also contemplated.

The organizers say their action is not only one of necessity, because of the prohibitive cost of footwear, but is also a protest against the profiteers who are fattening on the misery of the country. No man, they declare, can appear on the streets fashionably attired under present prices, as hundreds do, and so he earned the name of "the profiteer."

It is estimated that a hat, a suit of clothes, a pair of shoes and a light overcoat of good quality now cost about $50,000 crowns (nearly $2,000).

PRESENT TELEPHONE RATES IN COUNTY UNTIL APRIL 1921

Commission Continues Bell Charges in Webster Groves, Kirkwood and Glendale.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON, City, March 30.—The State Public Service Commission today authorized a continuance of the present Bell Telephone rates in Webster Groves, Kirkwood and Glendale, St. Louis County, for an additional 13 months from April 1. This will keep the rates in effect until May 1, 1921.

The present rates were authorized by the commission April 1, 1918, and extended for a year, April 1, 1919.

In issuing the order of extension, the commission today said there had been no material decrease in the cost of labor or material and that the company earned only 5.5 per cent in the last year on a valuation of $67,000 on its property in the three towns named. These earnings, in addition to those on other property, are subject to the harsh abuses of ill-natured negroes? Must we always submit to the code of income restriction, or must we, in the name of justice, demand that those who are subject to be retained by the city man who should be responsible for those conditions, who in 18 years' tenure of office can point to no achievement or improvement of the city, except the building of fences to restrict our liberty, and the erection of a garbage burner at the back door of the hospital to assault our nostrils and pollute the atmosphere?

PATIENTS AT KCH
HOSPITAL WRITE OF
"FRIGHTFULNESS"

Letter Signed by 33 of Them and Sent to Aldermen and Other City Officials Tells of Beatings.

FOOD DECLARED TO BE UNSANITARY

Good Food Said to Go to Superintendent's Family and Nurses—Improvement of Conditions Requested.

A letter signed by 33 patients at Koch Hospital, a city institution for the care of tubercular persons, has been sent to the Board of Aldermen and other city officials, complaining of mistreatment by hospital attendants, unsanitary conditions and waste.

The letter says that the grand jury which in January made an inspection of the institution and later reported conditions as "frightful," did not discover much of the "frightfulness" that actually existed.

The abuses charged in the complaint include the beating of patients by nurses, insufficient and unsanitary food, filthy washroom conditions, and presence of a garbage incinerator within 100 feet of the hospital. It also charges that the good food is eaten by the superintendent's family, the nurses and other attendants, and that patients are given "the trimmings." Michael J. Dwyer is the superintendent.

Director of Public Welfare Schmitt, by whose department the hospital is administered, said today that a copy of the complaint had not reached him. When some of the charges were repeated to him he said he would cause an investigation to be made.

"If those charges are true, I'll discharge everybody connected with the place," he said. "Tubercular patients are often melancholy and hard to manage, but treatment such as is alleged here will not be endured for longer than it takes to find it out."

LETTER TELLS OF BEATINGS.

The patients' letter says: "Never but once has a nurse been discharged for mistreating patients. Yet cases often occur and we have had some very flagrant ones where nothing was done. A nurse about two years ago rubbed a woman patient's face with a soiled bed sheet, and she was given charge of a more desirable ward. We have another who is still employed here who upon three occasions has beaten patients, two of whom were expected to die daily, and one of whom was delirious and died that day. The other she punched twice with a bed pan, a spoon weighing three or four pounds, and struck four times with her fist. The man died the next day."

While a large herd of milk cows is kept at the place and fed at city expense, the patients are given a poor grade of oleomargarine and the butter is virtually all consumed by the superintendent's family, the nurses and other attendants, says the complaint. The complaint of the letter says that the only glass of real milk which he has had in the last 18 months was served through the mistake of a new nurse. "Our milk is always highly diluted with water," he says, "running as high as 50 per cent of water."

Hope for Bond Issue.
The complaint states that the only improvement which followed the publication of the grand jury's report was the installation of three additional wash basins. In respect of the statements of city officials and others who have urged passage of the bond issue, the letter says the patients ardently hope it will pass, but also hope that care will be taken, in that event, to put an end to abuses which have prevailed heretofore. It continues:

"Must we experience again a hospital operated for years with one washstand for 36 patients, and two bath tubs for the same number, wherein soiled bed linen is also washed? Must we again behold the erection of bungalows where are installed a system of toilet accessories, abolished by law from the factories of the State? Must we still see incompetency and mismanagement on every hand? Must we always submit to the code of income restriction, or must we, in the name of justice, demand that those who are subject to be retained by the city man who should be responsible for those conditions, who in 18 years' tenure of office can point to no achievement or improvement of the city, except the building of fences to restrict our liberty, and the erection of a garbage burner at the back door of the hospital to assault our nostrils and pollute the atmosphere?"

Complaint as to Food.
Concerning the food, it is stated that "bed patients" are given three eggs a day, while "walkers," patients

CROWD OVERFLOWS
CHURCH EAGER TO BE TREATED BY HICKSONDANISH REPUBLIC IS DEMANDED BY TRADE UNIONISTS

King Christian Refuses to Re-instate Deposed Cabinet and General Strike Is Threatened by Workers.

By the Associated Press.
COPENHAGEN, March 30.—King Christian announced today his refusal to comply with the ultimatum of the Social Democrats demanding the reinstatement of the Zahle ministry, dismissed by the King, and other action in connection with the Government crisis.

The demand was made under the threat that the Danish trade unions would meet today with a view of declaring a general strike if the throne did not comply.

The action demanded included the immediate summoning of the Rigsdag and the restoration of constitutional conditions.

Conferring With King.
Socialist and trade union representatives conferred with King Christian last night relative to the crisis, which has arisen in Denmark as a result of the dismissal of Premier Zahle's Cabinet, demanded immediate reinstatement of the Zahle ministry, an immediate call for a meeting of the Rigsdag and the introduction once more of constitutional conditions in this country.

Declarations were made that if their demands were rejected all Danish citizens would call a meeting today with a view to declaring a general strike.

Crowds in the public squares up to an early hour this morning were raising cries for the establishment of a republican form of Government for Denmark. Slight disturbances occurred while soldiers were occupying one of the squares, and cries of "Long live the Republic" were heard during the night.

M. Rosing, one of the ministers in the new Cabinet formed by M. Liebe, an advocate of the High Court, to take the place of the Zahle ministry, was reported today as saying the new Government intended holding elections before summoning the Parliament to consider the question of Flensburg, the principal town in the second plebiscite zone.

Crisis of the Crisis.
The cause arose over the disposition of the second Schleswig zone, which the Zahle ministry considered settled in favor of Germany by the recent plebiscite. The opposition, however, insisted there should be at least provisional internationalization of Flensburg and the second zone.

M. Rosing would endeavor to secure the internationalization of the second zone, including Flensburg.

The Berlingske Tidende today declares the entire civil community "must rise against the terrorism of a general strike."

"Challenge to People."
The Extrabladet says that M. Zahle in his final audience with the King declared that he could not follow a policy other than that agreed upon by Parliament and the Government. The King dissented, whereupon M. Zahle declining to tender his resignation, the King requested the Minister to retire. The newspaper declares "all friends of the King will with the greatest regret see him enter on this path. What has happened is such an impudent challenge to the Danish people that it cannot but involve them in the greatest political consequences."

Special Services at St. Peter's After Healer Lays Hands on 800 in Morning and Then an Additional 250.

MANY APPEAR WITH CHILDREN

First Report of Relief Comes From Man Walking Without Cane, Who Tells of Having Had Sciatica.

The throng outside St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Lindell boulevard and Spring avenue, where James Moore Hickson, Church of England lay healer, is conducting the second day of the "Christian Healing Mission," was so large at 2 o'clock this afternoon that an afternoon service, not previously planned, was arranged.

Even after the church had been filled, several hundred remained outside. About 200 of this overflow were admitted to the chapel, and it was then announced that there could be no more admissions today.

Hickson announced definitely, in answer to several requests, that he could not prolong his stay here scheduled tomorrow, as he has a definite schedule which he feels that he must keep.

This service, beginning at 2:25, followed upon the regular morning service, when the second 800 regular ticket holders were received, and a supplementary service for 250 persons without tickets, who were admitted to the chapel before noon. Hickson's only rest came in a brief intermission at 2 o'clock, when lunch was served to him and some of the assisting clergymen in the guild room of St. Peter's parish house.

Hickson was about the only person among the group of churchmen in charge of the meeting who did not seem worried by the insistence of the unexpectedly large crowd. He showed no sign of fatigue or impatience. A funeral had been scheduled for 3:30 p. m. in the church, but in view of the emergency, arrangements were made to hold the funeral elsewhere.

Extra Service in Afternoon.
The Rev. Dr. L. H. White, rector of St. Mary's Church, Hamilton and Ridge avenues, preached to the throng on Spring avenue, while the afternoon arrangements were still a matter of uncertainty. He laid his hands on about 60 persons, after a talk on "Faith," and said he had practiced the laying on of hands among the people of his parish.

When it was decided to hold a mid-afternoon service, the church vestrymen opened the front doors of the church, but the gathering was at the doors of the parish house, on Spring avenue, and many persons seemed to fear that, if they went around the corner, they would lose their chance of getting into the church. Several announcements had to be made by the vestrymen before there was a general movement of the crowd. Policemen gave some help in moving the throng.

Hickson, while treating another patient in the vestry room, paused to speak to several persons in the church yard, outside the window, who were looking in and chatting. "If you are to remain there," he said, "I must ask you to be silent and to pray for those within," he said. The request for silence was observed.

H. L. WILSON ASKS WHY C. OF C. HERE ENDORSED MEXICO

Former Ambassador Says St. Louis Resolution Invites Americans to Enter Mexico at Peril to Their Lives.

TRACES PROPAGANDA OF CARRANZA HERE

Explains That U. S. Could Abandon Mexico, Set Up Buffer State, or Support a Friendly Faction.

Henry Lane Wilson, United States Ambassador to Mexico from 1910 to 1914, when he was recalled by President Wilson, today said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that St. Louis business men should inquire of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce what led them recently to adopt and send broadcast a resolution expressing sympathy for Mexico and asserting that conditions for the interchange of commerce were better now than at any time since the first revolutionary outbreak.

"That resolution is an invitation to American business men to go into Mexico at the peril of their lives," he declared.

"Within the last few days," he said, "the office of the Secretary of State has refused to issue passports for Americans to go into Mexico. It is known that the Carranza Government is maintaining organized propaganda in the United States at the tremendous cost. I have observed that much of this propaganda can be traced to St. Louis."

In an address at the City Club at noon, Wilson made reference to the resolution, which he said was a "chamber of commerce resolution about as he did to the reporter, and gave a lengthy recital of Mexico's political history from the regime of Diaz through the events of the succeeding revolts in a fashion to emphasize what he pronounced as defects in the policy of the Wilson administration toward Mexico.

Wilson selected one portion of the resolution for specific criticism. As adopted, it declared: "We note that the imports from Mexico to the United States during the fiscal years of 1917-18 and 1918-19 gained 70 per cent."

"This passage was offered in support of the statement that conditions in Mexico have been stabilized," he said.

Wilson submitted a translation of an editorial of "Excelsior," printed Dec. 27 last, in which the principal daily papers of the city of Mexico, is worthy of mention in this connection.

Woman Tells of Walking to Work Without Steel Brace She Had Worn at Knee for a Year—Another Gives Up Crutches.

Mrs. E. K. Bedell, 35 years old, of the Marquette Hotel, who is engaged in making hats for a wholesale concern in the Washington avenue district, walked to her work this morning without wearing a steel brace which she had worn upon her knee for a year. She said she had felt able to do so since she had received the rite of spiritual healing from James Moore Hickson, at St. Peter's Episcopal Church yesterday.

"I have suffered from stiffness in my right knee joint for three years," Mrs. Bedell said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today. "The trouble had a nervous origin. For two years I walked on crutches, and then, through medical treatment, I became able to get along with a brace and cane."

"My physicians have told me that when I felt able to go without the brace, I could lay it aside. However, I have not felt that I could do without it."

Tells of Improvement. "I am an Episcopalian, and believe firmly in the healing power of prayer. I was in St. Peter's yesterday, and received the laying on of hands at the altar rail about 1 p. m. I felt no change in the condition of my knee at the time. I returned to the hotel and took a long nap, and when I awoke I found that I was able to go without my brace. I still use my cane, and limp a little, but I am greatly improved, and I hope for a complete cure. My physicians have benefited me, and I have nothing but praise for their treatment. I simply feel that their work has been accelerated by Mr. Hickson's treatment."

Statements about the case of Mrs. Blatter, of 7338 Flora avenue, Maplewood, the first person reported cured, or greatly benefited, by the treatment received, should be made public, for the encouragement of others, and for the further benefit of the persons themselves, through the clergy's ministrations.

The case which occasioned particular comment was that of a 10-year-old girl, who in leaving St. Peter's Church, was reported to have been able to walk without the crutches on which she had gone to the church. The case was reported to the Rev. Rufus Putney of St. Philip's Church, by one of his parishioners, who had been unable, however, to learn the girl's name.

"I have no doubt of the fact in this case," said the Rev. Mr. Putney today. "But the general public requires names and addresses before it can be of any use. I am sure that the names, either to the papers or direct to some member of the clergy."

NAVAL BRIGADE SENT TO QUELL RUHR REVOLT

Government at Same Time Negotiates With Radical Socialists With View to Modifying Ultimatum.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, Monday, March 29.—The Vorwaerts reports that Gen. Von Loewenfeld, at the head of the naval brigade, has entered the Ruhr region to fight the insurgents there.

The Government has entered into negotiations with the Independent Socialist Leader Cohn, with a view to modifying the ultimatum to the Ruhr district workers' army, as it was pointed out that, if the workers were driven to desperation, they might flood the mines and destroy the blast furnaces.

National Assembly Meets. The National Assembly met at 10 o'clock yesterday with a large audience of the members. The galleries were crowded.

After introducing the new members of the Government, Dr. Mueller, the new Premier, said he considered that a coalition of the parties was the only solid foundation upon which German policy should be based.

The Public Prosecutor, in a letter read to the assembly, requested the sanction of that body to prosecute one of its members, Deputy Traub, who was a participant in the usurping Kapp Government. The assembly did not act on this request.

Will Use an "Iron Broom." Chancellor Mueller told the assembly that the "reactionary" elements in the army will be swept away with an iron broom.

Some of the clergy in charge of the Christian Healing Mission have expressed the belief that the names of persons who believe themselves cured, or greatly benefited, by the treatment received, should be made public, for the encouragement of others, and for the further benefit of the persons themselves, through the clergy's ministrations.

The case which occasioned particular comment was that of a 10-year-old girl, who in leaving St. Peter's Church, was reported to have been able to walk without the crutches on which she had gone to the church. Bigger Crowd at Hickson Service, Many With Children years, he said, and he entered the church leaning on a cane. He went out carrying the cane.

"A magnetic thrill went through me at Mr. Hickson's touch," he said. "For the first time in years I am free from pain. The result was immediate, for in rising from my knees I made no use of my cane. Previously, I could not change my posture without the help of the cane or of another person."

Edwin Rohrt, 8, of 4329 Kennerly avenue, who was said to be blind in his right eye and, after the treatment by Hickson, that he could see with both eyes, though his vision was not perfect.

Mrs. Amelia Kramer, 58, living at the same address, who was with the boy, received treatment for pain in her feet caused by broken arches. She said she felt a magnetic effect, and that she was able to walk without pain.

Lottie Harden, 58, a negro, of 2724 Lawton avenue, left the altar shortly before noon waving about her head a cane and crutch which she had used in walking down the aisle. She began shouting "Praise God for His healing hand. Praise God from Whom all blessing flow."

Outside the church her cane and crutch were taken away, and she started out for her home. Mrs. Harden was hurt 20 years ago in a fall from a street car which dislocated both her legs. She had been using the cane and crutch for 12 years.

The number of children in the gathering was even larger than the very noticeable number yesterday. It was also noted, particularly in the line waiting outside, that the number of those obviously coming from outside St. Louis was increased. Several carried hand baggage, and a woman, apparently from the country, sat on a camp stool, nursing her baby.

Second Visit by Some. A few of yesterday's patients were noted as having returned today, though the plan of the mission contemplates only one treatment for each person, because of the great number of applicants and the limited space in the church.

An epileptic boy who was the second to receive treatment yesterday, and who was then lying on a cot and manifesting severe symptoms of the disease, was in the parish house again today, having been in wheel chair, and being calm and apparently cheerful. A deaf woman, who carries a telephonic apparatus, was also noticed to have come for the second time.

Yesterday's order of service was followed, the playing of familiar religious airs on the organ beginning 20 minutes before the service. At 10 a. m. Hickson appeared before the altar, with Bishop Tuttle, the Rev. Dr. E. S. Travers of St. Peter's, the Rev. Dr. E. S. Travers of Pittsburgh, Dean Davis of Christ Church Cathedral and others of the clergy. The preliminary announcements, as to the boxes for the offering, and the offering itself, were made by Dr. Phillips, this being the only reference to any matter of money made at any time during the service.

Sung by Congregation. While the hymn "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" was being sung by the congregation, a girl of 16, rising with difficulty beside her chair, which was near the chancel rail, began weeping uncontrollably. She was quieted by a nurse.

Bishop Tuttle bestowed his blessing on Hickson. In his introductory talk, Hickson said that the work of healing was hindered chiefly by "the want of corporate faith and unity" in the Christian church.

"We have no right to sing, 'One in hope and doctrine, one in charity,'" he said, "but please God, we shall have that right."

He gave as today's motto for the mission, "Come to Jesus." He recited the scriptural account of the miracle of the loaves and fishes, and said, "If your hearts and minds are in tune with God, today will begin your physical and spiritual cure. Place yourselves beside Christ in Gethsemane, in the light that streamed upon him."

As he did yesterday, Hickson first treated those who were prostrate, or in wheel chairs, and children. A girl of 2 became hysterical in the waiting room as Hickson approached, but was quieted, a moment later, by his touch and his low, calm voice in prayer.

A noticeable innovation was the request to women to go to the chancel about to approach the altar rail, to remove their hats to save Hickson's time. The ordinary usage of the Episcopal Church requires women to wear hats, and no more hats covered in prayer.

In the line waiting outside, before the opening of the service, one woman was heard to say, "I'm positive I never injured anyone. The remark was a part of a discussion of the subject of fitness for the rite of spiritual healing."

by all except the sufferers from severe deafness.

Hickson's address bespeaks strength, calmness, confidence and personal humility. It is free from slang or mannerism. He tells his hearers, first, that they must seek to be free from sin as well as from disease; and that they must strive for the setting right of their moral dispositions, no less than of their physical organisms. Those who cherish ill will against others, he declares, cannot expect benefit. Enemies must be forgiven, grudges must be forgotten, by those who would hope for the blessing of spiritual healing. Selfishness must be laid aside, and instead of crowding forward ahead of others, each person should wait patiently and pray for the healing of others.

He declares that instantaneous healing may occur in exceptional cases, but that most of the seekers must be content to receive help gradually, like the growth from a seed planted in the heart at the altar. He urges them not to let the faith die down, and the prayers cease, after departing, even if the departure is upon the crutches which were used for the approach to the altar.

"I know that our Lord is present," he says to the sufferers. "Let that be your thought, as you receive the touch. He wishes to heal you, even more than you wish to be healed."

Lays Hands on Each Person. The greater part of the applicants for healing are received at the altar rail, where the sacrament of communion is customarily administered. Hickson passes slowly along the kneeling line, placing his hands on the head of each person, and praying for each separately.

Hickson's manner is quiet, earnest and devout. His prayer, delivered in a low voice, and in unbroken fashion, varies in almost every instance.

"God bless, heal and help you in body and soul," is one of his forms of invocation. "Rebuke, O God, this spirit of infirmity, and may this Thy child be made well from this hour."

The atmosphere of the mission, at failure to discard crutches or other evidences of infirmity, are not heard. Neither are there loud exclamations of praise, even from those who feel themselves benefited.

Children With Parents. When parents appear with children, Hickson lays his hands on the heads of both parent and child, then places both hands on the child's head, and prays for the child's restoration. He says, in his interviews and addresses, that children are particularly susceptible to benefit from spiritual healing, since they have less of the element of prejudice and unbelief to act as a hindrance.

Boxes, which are in view of those passing out through the parish house, are placed around the receiving contributions to Hickson's work. This work, it is explained in preliminary talks, is to be carried on in Russia and the Orient, following the close of the mission in the United States in July. Apart from this introductory mention, nothing is done to call attention to the contribution boxes. There is no collection-taking at the Hickson services.

Bishop Tuttle, at yesterday's service, sat near the altar, with head bowed, while the seekers for healing were at the rail. Bishop Coadjutor Johnson took part with Dr. Phillips of St. Peter's, Dean Davis of St. Louis, and others of the clergy, in bestowing the benediction individually on those whom Hickson had treated.

Pastor Who Denounced Mission to Discard Meetings Next Sunday. The Rev. George Chalmers Richmond, pastor of Central Church (un-denominational) distributed cards among those outside St. Peter's church today announcing that at the Liberty Theatre, first Sunday in morning he will preach on "The Garden of an Unknown Love" and will discuss the Hickson meetings.

Dr. Richmond denounced Hickson's healing mission in a sermon last Sunday. He formerly was an Episcopal rector.

FORMER COLONEL IN BRITISH ARMY TO BE DEPORTED

Charles G. Collins to Be Returned to Answer Charges of Stealing Gems in India.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 30.—Charles Glenn Collins, former Colonel in the British army, yesterday lost his right in the Supreme Court to prevent deportation to answer charges of having obtained valuable gems in Bombay, India, by fraud. He was arrested in New Orleans two years ago at the request of British authorities, but escaped last September to be recaptured aboard an outbound vessel by American Government agents.

NEW YORK, March 30.—British authorities in asking for the arrest in the United States of Charles Glenn Collins, were obligated to overlook an excellent record established by Collins as a Lieutenant-Colonel during the war. His career at Gallipoli was said to be especially commendatory.

His activity as a soldier, however, interspersed several legal entanglements both in England and in the States. In 1902 the Princess Zoltykoff, while in London, is said to have given Collins two Chinese vases valued at $600, which were subsequently lost. The Princess recovered $100 from Collins, according to reports.

Coming to the United States later he attended a bankers' convention at Chicago and was arrested on a charge of forgery. He was later indicted for swindling a New York school teacher out of $222, but was acquitted.

He was arrested in New York in May, 1918, and released in $100 bail for the alleged theft of a necklace valued at $500 from an Indian dignitary at Bombay. Failing to appear for hearing, a warrant for his arrest was issued and he was later captured in New Orleans and held for the British authorities.

In 1907 he married Miss Natalie Schenck of Newport, but was divorced the next year. Later he married Miss Amelia Wheeler, following three unsuccessful attempts at elopement. This marriage also was unhappy and after annulment proceedings Collins married the divorced wife of a fellow army officer.

TWO SOFT DRINK DEALERS ARRESTED FOR SELLING WHISKY

Several Barrels of Liquor Confiscated From Enrico Masoni Who Sends to Living Rooms for Whisky.

Enrico Masoni, who has a "soft drink" bar at 444 Delmar boulevard, was arrested yesterday by prohibition enforcement officers after he had sold a pint of whisky to a revenue agent. Masoni sent his 14-year-old daughter upstairs to his living rooms for the whisky.

Armed with a search warrant the officers went upstairs and confiscated two barrels of whisky, two barrels of wine, 75 gallons of raisin wine in five-gallon jugs and 125 pounds of raisins.

Ernest W. Green, proprietor of a saloon at 1501 Olive street, was arrested after he had sold four pints of bonded whisky for $20 to a revenue agent. In the rooms above the saloon the officers found several cartons containing pints and pints of whisky, a two-gallon jug of whisky, five gallons of gin and five gallons of raisin brandy.

Democrats active in State politics, conferring yesterday at the Planters Hotel with Ben M. Neale, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, were unable to decide definitely upon the form of platform declaration on prohibition and the league of nations to be proposed to the Platform Committee of the State convention in Joplin, April 22.

It was agreed that the State platform should contain a strong endorsement of President Wilson, the entire record of his two administrations and of the league of nations, though the form of the league of nations endorsement caused considerable discussion. The conference was private and no authorized statement given out as to what took place, but it is understood that virtually was decided that no attempt would be made in the tentative draft of the platform to do more than endorse the league of nations, and that no effort would be made to approve it either with or without reservations.

Reed Question Discussed.

In the discussion of the league of nations, there arose the question of the probable attitude of the convention toward Senator Reed and his desire to go to the national convention in San Francisco as a delegate at large. A majority of those in the conference were opposed to any recognition of Reed by the convention, and even his friends, it is said, agreed that nothing could be done to prevent humiliation of Reed by the convention.

The action of many county conventions, which have instructed delegates to vote against Reed, was discussed and the conferees generally expressed the opinion that the convention would not even permit Reed to go as a delegate from the Fifth District (Kansas City) to the national convention.

The campaign which has been under way for several weeks to bring about a platform declaration in favor of amending the Volstead law to permit the sale of beer and light wines was talked over, but is reported to have found little favor at the conference. It seemed to be the opinion of a majority of those in the conference that the platform should declare in favor of law enforcement and should further state that prohibition was a question for the courts and not for political parties.

Several of those at the meeting were asked to prepare tentative planks on the wet and dry question and submit them to another conference to be held shortly before the convention.

Bonuses for Service Men.

It was agreed that the platform should have declarations in favor of bonuses for former service men, for higher salaries for school teachers and for a reduction of taxes.

Those who attended at Neale's invitation were Senator Sam B. Cook of Jefferson City, W. R. Hollister of Jefferson City, executive secretary of the Democratic National Committee; William T. Kemper, a Kansas City banker; Judge John S. Farrington of the Kansas City Court of Appeals; Daniel G. Taylor and Charles M. Hay of St. Louis. Those invited but who failed to attend were Peyton A. Parks of Clinton, Tom Pendergast, Democratic boss and friend of Reed, of Kansas City, the Rev. Burris Jenkins, editor of the Kansas City Post, and Floyd Jacobs of Kansas City.

TOWER GROVE AND FOURTH STREET CARS TO BE REROUTED

Beginning Next Sunday, Both Will Become Belt Lines. With Fourth and Pine as Terminus.

The routes of the Tower Grove and Fourth street lines of the United Railways will be changed next Sunday under authority of the Public Service Commission in a fashion that will make both belt lines.

The Fourth street line now loops on Franklin avenue and the Tower Grove line on Lucas avenue. Under the new routing the furthest east and north of both lines will be Fourth and Pine streets. The Fourth street line will go westward over the present Tower Grove route to Grand avenue and Arsenal street. Instead of looping there as now, the Fourth cars will proceed north on Grand avenue and will follow the present Fourth street route on the eastward trip.

The Tower Grove cars, on the westbound trips, will go south from Fourth and Pine streets on Fourth street to Chouteau avenue, following the present Fourth street route to Grand avenue and Arsenal street, proceeding thence westward on Arsenal street over the present Tower Grove line to Clifton Heights. Eastbound, the Tower Grove cars will follow their present route.

The purpose of the rerouting is to eliminate the "weave" of Fourth street cars at Grand avenue and Arsenal street, a traffic impediment. The new plan also removes the two lines from the congested carline district downtown, south of Olive street.

Washington, D. C., Couple Wed Here.

George Henry Brantley, a Chattanooga, lecturer, and Dr. Lydia Alden Develbiss, a Federal health worker and lecturer, both of Washington, D. C., were married here yesterday afternoon. They will make their home here.

$8,000,000 CHICAGO BUILDING
21-Story Structure to Front on Three Downtown Streets.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 30.—One of the largest office buildings in the country will be erected in Chicago at a cost of approximately $8,000,000. It was announced today. The building will house the Illinois Merchants' Bank, a merger of three Chicago banks. The structure will front on three principal downtown thoroughfares. It will cover an area of more than an acre and will be 21 stories high.

LABOR TO RAISE $100,000 TO FIGHT FOES OF UNIONS

C. T. L. U. and Building
Trades Council Pledge $1 Per Member and Agree to Oppose All Partisans.

A fund of approximately $100,000 is to be raised by the Central Trades and Labor Union and the Building Trades Council to carry out in St. Louis the program of the American Federation of Labor for a nonpartisan political campaign.

Delegates of local unions, at a joint meeting of the two labor organizations last night at 2228 Olive street, pledged the financial support of the various memberships. A donation of $1 from each member was assured by the delegates.

Republicans, Democrats and Socialists who were present agreed to lay aside party affiliation at the coming elections and work for the cause of labor by trying to defeat candidates, regardless of party, who are not in sympathy with the aims of trades unionists.

Volunteer Speakers to Work.
An executive committee of five members from the Central Trades and Labor Union and an equal number from the Building Trades Council will be given full power to organize a subcommittee of ward, precinct and block workers to act independent of the Republican and Democratic City Committees. It also was decided to organize a force of volunteer speakers to promote the work in the various local unions.

Several speakers advocated the formation of a Labor party, but that suggestion was set aside by the more conservative leaders, who cautioned the delegates that the purposes of organized labor could best be served by carrying out the program of the American Federation of Labor, which provides for the united opposition of the labor forces against candidates of any party who are not friendly to the cause of labor.

A questionnaire to be prepared by the American Federation of Labor is to be submitted to every candidate for office and those who do not measure up to the standard required will be opposed at the polls.

All Pledge Loyalty to Labor.
It was hinted by several speakers at the meeting that certain trades unionists might not be willing to surrender political affiliation with the dominant parties, but those who suspected the reference was to them lost no time in declaring their determination to forget partisanship and demonstrate their loyalty to organized labor.

Several speakers referred to the large number of injunctions which have been issued by the Federal Courts restraining unions from picketing plants where employees were being organized, and denounced the system under which Federal Judges are appointed for life. Recent legislation prohibiting strikes also was criticized.

It was said that special effort should be made to defeat men seeking re-election whose records in office stamped them as enemies of organized labor.

The meeting, which lasted from 8 to 11:30 p. m., was presided over by Joseph A. Woracek, president of the Central Trades and Labor Union, and Maurice J. Cassidy, secretary of the Building Trades Council.

JAMES LAMBERT, 12, ALLOWED $3000 A YEAR FOR EXPENSES

Boy With Income of $20,000 Annually, Gets Increase at Curator's Request.

The monthly allowance for the support of James Newton Lambert, 12 years old, son of the late Jordan W. Lambert, was increased yesterday from $100 a month to $250 a month on application of his curator, Arthur W. Lambert, 6470 Forsythe boulevard, uncle of the boy. In addition, the sum of $100 a month is being received by the minor's mother, Mrs. Bernice Lambert, for services rendered to him.

The money is paid from James' interest in the estate of his grandmother, Mrs. Lily Lambert. The curator told Probate Judge Folger that the income, coming principally of dividends from stock in the Lambert Pharmaceutical Co., approximates $20,000 a year and that the additional allowance was needed to keep the child in accordance with the present mode of living and his station in life.

WOMAN INJURED WHEN AUTO AND WAGON COLLIDE

Mrs. Josephine Peltier Hurt While Driving Along Ballast Road Near Clayton.

Mrs. Josephine Peltier, 59 years old, caretaker of Crystal Lake, on Clayton road just east of Ballast road, suffered scalp wounds and injuries to her right hip when a one-horse spring wagon in which she was riding was struck by an automobile owned by Gerald Jokert, 35 years old, 4276 Washington avenue, on the Ballast road a mile south of Clayton road at 7 p. m. yesterday. Her horse ran away with the front wheels of the wagon. The automobile turned turtle and was considerably smashed, but neither Jokert nor agent with him, who refused to give her name, was injured. The girl told persons who first reached the scene she was driving the car, although Jokert later claimed he was driving.

Mrs. Peltier says she was driving slowly at the extreme right of the road at the time of the accident. Jokert was arrested and gave bond.

POLICE PROHIBIT AIR RIFLES

Boys with air rifles who have been shooting at birds, chickens and even horses in different parts of the city are to be suppressed by the police.

Chief O'Brien yesterday issued an order against the use of air rifles and cat rifles. He says the practice is not only against the law and dangerous to pedestrians but also infringes on the Federal migratory bird law.

Weapons found in possession of boys will be taken away and broken up by the police and the boys given a lecture and sent home, unless they become unruly, in which event they will be sent to the Juvenile Court.

PRESIDENT WILL SPEND SUMMER IN MASSACHUSETTS

Massachusetts Home of Charles R. Crane at Tip of Cape Cod Selected as Summer White House.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—President Wilson will spend the summer at Wood's Hole, Mass., where the summer White House will be established on the estate of Charles R. Crane, the Chicago business man recently appointed minister to China. Arrangements already are being made for moving the President and his family and a good part of the executive offices there for at least two weeks of June and all of July and August. The Crane estate is an extensive country place which overlooks Buzzards Bay and Vineyard Sound and is close by Martha's Vineyard, an island which figures in Colonial history. President Taft and his family spent their summers at Beverly, Mass., but very far away.

The decision to take the President away for the summer is interpreted at the White House as further evidence of the continued improvement in health which Dr. Grayson, his personal physician, has been reporting. Up to a few weeks ago it had, in fact, been practically decided not to take the President away for the summer, because it was felt that he could be better cared for at the White House.

May Go Yachting.
The plan to spend the summer on the New England coast, Dr. Grayson said, meant that the President could continue the program of motor riding, possibly some short yacht trips, probably on the Mayflower, and might even get in a few holes of golf if his improvement continues. The trip from Washington will be by train, the Mayflower going up later.

Last summer, like his first in office, the President spent in Washington. Others have been spent at Cornish, N. H. The first summer, which was a very hot one, Mr. Wilson put the air cooling plants in the White House offices out of commission, and announced that, inasmuch as he was asking Congress to stay in session in the capitol throughout the hot days he would undertake it himself, and he did so.

He did not return from the peace conference at Paris last year until mid-summer, and he spent the next few weeks preparing for his long speaking trip in the West, from which he returned "a very sick man," to use the expression contained in Dr. Grayson's bulletin, and with a few occasional motor rides of late, he has been confined to the White House grounds ever since last October.

Secretary Houston Nearby.
Secretary Houston has a place at Wood's Hole near the summer White House, and other beautiful estates are close by. Dr. Grayson decided to accept Crane's offer, it is said, because he wanted the President away from the oppressive heat of Washington in mid-summer and because he wanted him near the salt water.

Under present arrangements the President will be in New England while the Democratic National convention is in session in San Francisco, although Congress from all indications now will nominally be in session, but actually will be transacting no business by gentlemen's agreement between the leaders. There have been some hints that the President might reserve the much expected official announcement as to whether he wants a third term for presentation at the convention, and if that be true, he probably would prepare his letter at the summer White House.

The usual staff of secretaries, clerks, stenographers and secret service men will accompany the President. Special telephone and telegraph wires will be installed, and to all practical purposes the White House will be in Wood's Hole after June 15.

Crane Estate Is of Picturesque, Oriental Style.
By the Associated Press.

WOOD'S HOLE, Mass., March 29.—Residents of this village, when informed last night that President Wilson was to spend the summer at Juniper Point, the home of Charles R. Crane, said that from the standpoint of seclusion and picturesque beauty he could not have made a better choice. The 150-acre estate covers the entire point, which is the southwest tip of Cape Cod. A Japanese garden, laid out from ideas gathered by Mr. Crane in his visits to the Orient, is an interesting feature. There are artificial ponds and tennis courts, together with a private pier and a small beach.

Crane's "cottage" contains 29 rooms. On the estate are two other houses, one of which has been occupied for the last three summers by Secretary Houston of the Treasury Department. The summer season at Wood's Hole as a rule is a quiet one socially. Activities center principally about the marine biological laboratory, at which a summer school is conducted under the direction of Prof. Frank R. Lillie of the University of Chicago, a brother-in-law of Crane.

There is a golf course not far from the village, where it is possible that the President may be able to obtain some exercise. Many residents of this part of the cape have vivid recollections of another President. Thirty years ago one of the most familiar figures hereabouts was Grover Cleveland, who spent many days each summer fishing in Buzzards Bay.

K. of C. Statue for Metz.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, March 29.—American Knights of Columbus have planned to offer to the city of Metz a statue of Lafayette, who started from that place to offer his services to Gen. Washington in the American Revolutionary War, according to an announcement made by Edward L. Hearn, General Commissioner for Europe of the Knights of Columbus. Hearn was host at a dinner given in honor of deputies from Alsace and Lorraine.

DRURY TO TEACH AGRICULTURE

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 30.—A department of agriculture will be added to the curriculum of Drury College under terms of a gift of $25,000 by a Kansas City woman, it has been announced by President T. W.

Nadal of the college. The donor's name is withheld at her request. The chair is to be endowed in memory of her late husband, who, for years, was a Kansas City business man, and who had large farming interests in the Ozarks.

The work of the proposed department will in no way conflict with complete courses.

that of the State agricultural colleges, President Nadal explains, but will present organized and scientific principles as a foundation for advanced agricultural work, give persons expecting to teach such training as will insure their handling agricultural courses capably, and provide elementary training for those who have not opportunity to take complete courses.

Subjects will be selected with a view to solving definite problems of the Ozark region.

SINN FEIN SHOT
CORK MAYOR, SAYS
LONDON PAPER

MacCurtain and Six Others Declared to Have Been Ousted From Inner Circle as 'Untrustworthy'.

ATTACK ON MAIL VAN PRECEDED MURDER

Correspondence for Dublin Castle Taken; Another of the Seven Reported Shot at, Third Killed After Expulsion.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, March 30.—Official inquiries in Ireland have proved beyond a doubt that Thomas MacCurtain, Lord Mayor of Cork, who was assassinated a week ago Saturday night, was "actually a victim of Sinn Fein vengeance," says the Daily Mail. It declares it has obtained its information upon "unimpeachable authority."

Lord Mayor MacCurtain and six other prominent men who were expelled from the circle of the Sinn Fein and condemned as untrustworthy to the cause they had vowed to support were doomed to death, the newspaper says. Of these seven, Lord Mayor MacCurtain was the first to be killed. Another, Prof. Stockley, was shot at four times, but escaped with his life. A third man, whose identity has not been disclosed, was blindfolded, bound and shot to death in a field at Limerick. He held in his hand a rosary. The remaining four are still alive so far as known.

Attack on Mail Van.
"It appears," the newspaper declares, "that the Sinn Fein inner circle organized an attack on a mail van in Dublin on March 2 and the man sent to do the work secured correspondence which was being forwarded to Dublin Castle. Whether in this correspondence there was found anything implicating the seven expelled men is not quite clear, but apparently there is good ground for this view. Two days after the attempt to murder Prof. Stockley, Lord Mayor MacCurtain, who, although a Sinn Fein, had strongly denounced the Sinn Fein campaign, was killed."

"There is no doubt now in the minds of Irish officials that his murders were Sinn Feiners acting under the order of the inner ring of the Irish Republican Brotherhood. There may be other similar cases of vengeance, as it is known that as soon as suspicion of being 'untrustworthy' is directed against a Sinn Feiner, he is shot by his own comrades."

London Times Dispatch.
The London Times has received a dispatch relative to events at Cork prior to the assassination of Lord Mayor MacCurtain. The dispatch was sent by a well informed correspondent, the newspaper says, and follows:

"It has been ascertained that on the night of March 17 there was a circle meeting of the Irish Republican Brotherhood which was attended by Lord Mayor MacCurtain and other prominent persons. At this meeting seven members of the brotherhood were expelled from the organization. It is significant that one of the persons present was fired upon after leaving the meeting and that on the night of March 20 Lord Mayor MacCurtain was shot dead. It is stated that at this meeting accusations were made of infidelity to the cause of the Irish Republican Brotherhood."

Pope to Deliver Pronouncement on Irish Question.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, March 30.—Pope Benedict will deliver in May a pronouncement on the Irish question in its political and religious aspects. The pronouncement will be made on the occasion of the canonization of Oliver Plunkett, the seventeenth century archbishop of Armagh and Primate of Ireland. All the Irish Bishops will journey to Rome for the canonization and pilgrims also are expected from American and European countries. The visitors will be housed in the Vatican.

Irish Bill Expected to Be Passed in Few Days.

By Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
LONDON, March 30.—In the presence of the full House and crowded galleries, the debate began yesterday on the new Irish home rule bill. While Premier George sat with his head well tucked down into his collar and feet elevated on the top of the table facing the Government bench, Chief Secretary of Ireland MacPherson monotonously continued the bill and its purposes to the House, which, including the opposition, seemed fully aware that in three days, whatever may be said for or against it, it will be passed.

Passion was absent in the debate. But perhaps, when the Premier makes a pronouncement in answer to former Premier Asquith, an event scheduled for today, debates may reach dramatic height. And, unlike any other occasion in the past when home rule was before the House, there are only two of the Nationalist band to listen to arguments for and against the application of the Premier's better government of Ireland bill, T. P. O'Connor and Devlin. The former, like those in opposition who spoke before him, impressed on the public that the United States was alert to conditions in Ireland. For the first time yesterday American correspondents had definitely reserved seats in the members' gallery, which shows how well the Government knows that the American people are vitally interested.

As Clynes told the House, "We cannot consider the Irish situation without bearing in mind the ill effects it has with the relations between America and this country. I mention that only as one of the most serious evil by-products which the present system of Government in Ireland has produced."

COFFEE WEEK

March 29 to April 3

THIS week, while grocers of the entire United States are devoting themselves to special displays of Coffee, it is highly desirable that the readers of this paper consider a few facts in regard to this most popular of all beverages.

This country drinks nearly one-half of all the Coffee grown in the world. And the American appetite for Coffee is constantly growing.

In the last six months of 1919 we Americans drank three billion more cups of coffee than we drank in the same period of 1918.

This liking for coffee by Americans is easily understood.

America is an active, virile nation.

As a nation we require food that sustains body and brain at high efficiency.

Coffee is pleasing to the palate, but it is also refreshing and invigorating. It supplies strength and staying power. It stimulates the brain and relieves fatigue of mind and muscle. It helps men and women to endure exposure and withstand hard work.

Let Coffee be your everyday drink. Drink Coffee because it is nourishing. Drink it because it lightens fatigue, sustains energy and aids digestion. Drink Coffee because it is satisfying and healthful.

Make Coffee Week the occasion for an intimate Coffee-chat with your grocer. He will see that you are suited absolutely on Coffee.

COFFEE

the Universal drink

Coffee is a delicious flavoring for cakes, puddings, ice cream and other desserts. Try Coffee for some of those less common purposes.

Why Doesn't Your Sleep Rest You

WHEN a man really rests, sleeping soundly all night, he wakes up with a new feeling of being alive—almost like being made over again.

But how often you hear some one say—"Oh, I sleep all right, but it doesn't seem to rest me!"

Probably this has happened to you many a time. The fact is that you do not sleep soundly—and your bed had more to do with it than you realize.

A creaky bed, a bed that sways, a spring that sags and lets you down into a hollow—puts your nerves on edge and makes your muscles tense.

For deep, sound sleep you must have a bed that invites every nerve and muscle to relax.

The Simmons Metal Bed is noiseless.

A Simmons Spring is always resilient and restful—never sags or humps.

That is why people sleep so much better in a Simmons Bed and Spring than in a wooden bed or ordinary metal bed.

And that is why Simmons Company is specializing in Twin Beds. One sleeper does not disturb the other, or communicate colds and other infections.

Simmons Steel Beds, Brass Beds, Springs, Day Beds and Children's Cribs are the most popular sleeping equipment in America today—in the stores of leading merchants all over this section.

Your choice of very beautiful designs in Enameled Steel and Lacquered Brass—at prices little if any higher than for ordinary beds.

And when you are selecting your Simmons Beds with an eye to their appearance in the room, you will see that Simmons has for the first time established beautiful and authoritative design in Metal Beds.

Sleep is a big subject! Write us for the brochure, "What Leading Medical Journals and Health Magazines Say about Separate Beds and Sound Sleep." Free of charge.

FIVE PERSONS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Woman, 72, Man, 75, and 3-Year-Old Girl Among Those Hurt.

Five persons were injured in automobile accidents yesterday.

Mrs. Anna Pahl, 72 years old, of 2825 Shenandoah avenue, a passenger on a Bellefontaine car, was thrown from her seat, suffering injuries to her head and shoulders, at 4 p. m. when the car was knocked from the rails by a truck driven by Thomas Sullivan, 1925 South Twelfth street, at Tenth and Clinton streets. Sullivan was driving the truck east on Clinton street, down grade. When he heard the car approaching from the south he applied the brakes, but they failed to stop the heavy load. The car was swung half way around in the street, police reported, the passengers being thrown from their seats and the car stove displaced.

Haskell Bushansky, 75 years old, of 1914 North Fourteenth street, suffered concussion of the brain and scalp wounds at 4 p. m. when struck by a truck driven by James Begley, 19, 4400 North Nineteenth street, at Fifteenth street and Franklin avenue.

Henrietta Wunch, 3 years old, of 1821 Allen avenue, was knocked down by an automobile driven by Leonard Hartman, 2705 Virginia avenue, at Eighteenth street and Allen avenue at 3 p. m. She was taken to the city hospital suffering from cuts and bruises.

John Ansel, 23, 2701 Howard street, and James Cavanaugh, 26, 2826 Franklin avenue, were seriously injured internally when a truck driven by Ansel was wrecked in collision with a Page street car in front of 3759 Finney avenue at 5 p. m.

CHAUFFEUR EXONERATED IN CASE OF WOMAN KILLED BY TRUCK

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict of Accident in Death of Mrs. Phillip Steiner.

Edwin J. Lackland, 38 years old, 5751 Kennerly avenue, chauffeur on a United States mail truck, was exonerated by a Coroner's jury today at an inquest into the death of Mrs. Phillip Steiner, 62 years old, 2854 Arsenal street, who was struck and killed by Lackland's truck at the intersection of Arsenal street and Gravois and Pennsylvania avenues yesterday.

The jury returned a verdict of accident after Lackland made a statement in which he said Mrs. Steiner left the curb, apparently preoccupied in counting some money held in her hand. The chauffeur said he sounded his horn and brought the truck to a stop just as the woman looked up and turned back toward the curb. Lackland said he started forward and as he did so Mrs. Steiner suddenly wheeled around and stepped in front of the machine.

Lackland said that Mrs. Steiner apparently was confused. He testified that he was not going more than six miles an hour when the machine hit her.

Other witnesses testified that Mrs. Steiner was not using the regular street crossing.

Observatory Director Suggests That Airplanes Hunt "Nests."

WALKING THE DOG AT DOG SHOW IS A WORK OF ART

dog, which has the canine world beaten for shagginess of coat and that general appearance of hardihood which comes from outdoor life and letting the whiskers grow. C. W. Thomas of 1914 Olive street has on exhibition in this class Soldier Boy, famous as a prize winner. Other sheep dog entries are those of William A. Jamison of New York and the Amberley Kennels of Detroit.

A Chinese chow dog, the only one of its kind in the show, is being exhibited by Col. John H. Parker of the regular army. Its name is Wong Oh Sing and it is a beautiful specimen which always has a gallery of admirers around its bench.

A novelty is the Chesapeake Bay dog, of which two entries are shown by Joseph Pulitzer Jr. of St. Louis and two by Barron and Orr of Mason City, Ia. The Chesapeake Bay is a duck dog which has the size and something of the build of the pointer and the coat of a Newfoundland. Its color is a peculiar shade of brown, lighter than the "liver" color of the pointer and darker than the "fox red" of the chow dog. Brownie and his son, Bones, are the Pulitzer entries and Barron's Bell and Derwood's Teddy are shown by Barron and Orr. The Chesapeake is said to be the only native American breed of dog.

St. Louisans Win Awards.

Bierman of Taylorville, Ill., won a blue ribbon with her Russian wolfhound, Pontiac Nish. Thomas B. Elliott, a St. Louis exhibitor, won several prizes in the collie classes. Mrs. Nat Goldstein's collie, Arcadia Model, won a third prize.

New Way to Remove Hair Creates Sensation (Actually Takes Out the Roots)

What beauty specialists regard as one of the most important discoveries in recent years is the phaelectric method of removing superfluous hair. Its great advantage, of course, lies in the fact that it actually removes the hair roots. It does this easily, instantly, harmlessly. Sufferers from the affliction named need no longer despair. The actual hair-roots come out before your very eyes, leaving the skin as smooth and hairless as a babe's.

Because it offers such complete relief, a stick of phaelectric is the most inexpensive thing a woman can buy for the removal of hairy growths. For the same reason druggists are having an enormous demand for it. You can use it with entire safety; it is so harmless one could even eat it without any ill effect.

DEATH SENTENCES OF SIX
NEGRO RIOTERS AFFIRMED

Arkansas Supreme Court Also Reverses Six Convictions in Elaine (Ark.) Cases.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 30.—The Arkansas Supreme Court yesterday affirmed the death sentences imposed on six of 12 negroes condemned for murder in connection with the Elaine race riots last October and reversed the other six and remanded their cases for new trials.

Gov. Brough, in a statement last night, declared the Supreme Court decision was evidence of the desire of the Arkansas executive and judicial authorities to accord fair treatment to the negro.

"The action of Arkansas throughout in dealing with participants in the Elaine insurrection, which cost scores of lives and jeopardized thousands of dollars' worth of property, is in striking contrast to the unwarranted refusal of Gov. Allen of Kansas to honor a requisition for the return of Robert L. Hill, universally recognized as having been one of the leading spirits of the whole damnable conspiracy to murder white citizens and to take possession of their property," said the Governor's statement. "Politics is not so evident in Arkansas as in Kansas in dealing with the race question."

LABOR CANDIDATES
ELECTED IN IOWA

Sioux City, Waterloo, Cedar Rapids and Other Towns Give Offices to Labor Men.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., March 30.—Returns compiled this morning from municipal elections throughout the State yesterday show that the candidates who avowedly had made their campaigns on labor tickets were, for the most part, elected.

In Sioux City Wallace M. Short was apparently re-elected. He led the labor ticket.

In Waterloo, Nelson W. Frisbee, union labor candidate, was elected by a comfortable majority. All but two members of the Frisbee ticket were elected.

Cedar Rapids, under commission form of government, re-elected J. F. Frail, the present Mayor.

In Burlington, Thomas J. Smith defeated Mayor James M. Bell for reelection. Under Burlington's commission form of government three out of five commissioners were on the labor ticket.

At Clinton labor party candidates, headed by H. W. Cowles, were successful in all but two municipal offices.

The election in Des Moines was more or less nonpartisan, nor was labor an issue in the campaign. H. H. Barton was elected Mayor.

The compilations received here from the various towns were made on unofficial but almost complete returns.

MADISON POLICE CHIEF, WHO SHOT UP MEETING, ON TRIAL

Patrick McCambridge Who Wounded Spectator Charged With Assault With Intent to Kill.

Chief of Police Patrick McCambridge of Madison, Ill., who "shot up" a meeting held the night of last Aug. 2 for the purpose of organizing employees of the American Car and Foundry Co., and incidentally seriously wounded Joseph Wiegand, a spectator, was placed on trial in the Circuit Court at Edwardsville yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

McCambridge and several other policemen went to the meeting, which was called in the interest of forming a union of the American Car and Foundry Co. employees. There was no trouble, witnesses said, until the police arrived. Then the latter began shooting. It happened that Wiegand was not one of those actively interested in the meeting. The shooting was enough to break up the meeting.

Mayor Ferdinand Garesche of Madison, who appointed McCambridge, is an officer of the American Car and Foundry Co.

HOOVER PRIMARY PETITIONS
NOT TO BE FILED IN OREGON

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 30.—Herbert Hoover has absolutely refused to allow his name to be placed on the Democratic ballot as a candidate for the presidential nomination, according to a telegram from him to former Gov. Oswald West, received here yesterday.

Hoover's telegram follows: "I am greatly obliged for your consideration of my name, but I wish to indicate my views on the proposed entry of my name in Democratic primaries in Oregon. While I am very grateful for the honor proposed, I cannot give my approval. West said that the wishes of Hoover would govern and that the petition would not be filed.

CHICAGO AND COOK COUNTY
HAVE POPULATION OF 3,232,769

Gain of 827,092 Over 1910 Figures Shown—City's Count Alone 2,884,827.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 30.—Census figures forwarded to Washington for official tabulation, according to published reports here, record the population of Cook County, including the city of Chicago, at 3,232,769, a gain of 827,092 over the 1910 count.

The census count for Chicago, according to figures published several days ago, totaled 2,884,827. Should the State constitutional convention decide to consolidate the city and county governments Chicago's population would be well over 3,000,000, the figures show.

An analysis of the count shows that the spread of the county population has been westward from Chicago along the railroad trunk lines, where new industrial plants have been established.

BODY FOUND IN LAKE MICHIGAN

The body of Arthur Brindle, formerly of St. Louis, who on Dec. 5 last left a note on a pier at Muskegon, Mich., addressed to his sister, Mrs. Fred Kramer of 3568 Natural Bridge road, stating that he was going to end his life, was taken from Lake Michigan yesterday, according to a dispatch from Muskegon.

Brindle was employed here by the Roberts, Johnson & Rand Shoe Co. and was a member of the Elks Club. His health became poor and he was advised to go to Michigan to recuperate. He later became associated with the Continental Motors Corporation.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pearl Brindle, who is staying with friends in St.

Louis. The body will be brought here for burial.

COTTON BELT OPENS NEW TERMINAL ON EAST SIDE

Freight Trains Now Will Be Assembled South of Municipal Bridge.

A new East Side freight terminal, constructed at a cost of $1,000,000, and with a capacity for handling approximately 2500 freight cars, was opened today by the Cotton Belt Railroad, which heretofore has assembled its freight trains at a terminal at Dupont, Ill., jointly used with the Missouri Pacific Railroad. The terminal lies 400 yards south of the eastern approach to the free bridge and connects with the Terminal Railroad Association's tracks. The company states that "there could be installed a wing to approach and connect with the east end of the municipal bridge," but inquiry developed that the Cotton Belt, one of the proprietary lines of the Terminal, has no present intention of carrying out such a project.

The terminal consists of a large number of tracks for the assembling and separation of out and inbound freight trains; a roundhouse, machine shop, office building, water works, electric power plant, ice plant, coal chutes, repair shops and other structures and equipment, including a 90-foot electric turntable, said to be the largest in use.

The yard comprises 126 acres and is 8165 feet long and varies from 100 to 700 feet in width. There are no public crossings anywhere in the terminal and this is regarded as an advantage in facilitating the movement of traffic. Electricity is extensively throughout the terminal and the lighting system is said to be of the most modern type. Telephone stations are located at convenient points throughout the yard.

ST. LOUIS MARINE, WOUNDED 27 TIMES, HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Sergeant William H. Skaggs Wears Croix de Guerre, D. S. C. and Stars of Five Battles.

Sergeant William H. Skaggs of 2623 Park avenue, who enlisted in the Seventy-sixth Company, Sixth Regiment, Marine Corps, in May, 1917, and who says he was wounded 27 times in three battles, returned home yesterday from the naval base hospital at Brooklyn, N. Y., where he has been since April 2, 1919.

Skaggs' right leg was cut off above the knee on Nov. 1, 1918, and his left hip penetrated by shrapnel. He is almost totally disabled. He was formerly a chauffeur.

He received the Croix de Guerre and the Distinguished Service Cross and wears five stars, indicating the five battles he participated in, on his service ribbon. He is the son of Mrs. Marinda Skaggs.

KENTUCKY MOB TAKES NEGRO FROM OFFICERS AND HANGS HIM

Grant Smith, Arrested in Michigan, Was Charged With Attack Upon White Girl, 14.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Ky., March 20.—Forty men last night took Grant Smith, 40 years old, negro, away from officers on their way to the jail here, and hurried him in an automobile out the Maysville-Lexington pike to Mays Lick, Fleming County, where he was hanged to a telegraph pole. Smith disappeared two months ago, after alleged attacks on Ruby Anderson, 14, daughter of a Flemingsburg farmer. He was arrested in Michigan last week.

A quickly formed posse unsuccessfully tried to overtake the mob in automobiles. The negro's body was not mutilated, his arms were wired to his side and he was still handcuffed.

The French dolls are dressed in clothes fashioned of handsome materials, contributed by famous modistes and costumers of Paris. They were unpacked and given their first showing today at the residence of Mrs. Alfred Buschman, 4217 Emory street, director of the Board Walk Toy Shop.

WOMAN AND ROOMER ARRESTED

Police Seize Raisin Mash and "Moonshine" Whisky in House.

Mrs. Ida Hoon, 28 years old, of 214 Marion street, a seamstress, and David O'Connell, 36, a roomer in her home, were arrested yesterday in a raid on the home. A keg of raisin mash, a small jug of "moonshine" whisky and 42 pairs of khaki trousers found in a room at the home were taken to a police station. Mrs. Hoon denied any knowledge of the mash or whisky and said it was all the property of O'Connell. The trousers were a part of work left at her home for her, she said. O'Connell made no statement.

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

What It Is and How It Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve Force in Many Instances

SHOULD BE PRESCRIBED BY EVERY DOCTOR AND USED IN EVERY HOSPITAL Says Editor of "Physicians' Who's Who."

Take plain bitro-phosphate is the advice of these physicians to thin, delicate, nervous people who lack vim, energy and nerve force, and there seems to be ample proof of the efficacy of this preparation to warrant the recommendation. Moreover, if we judge from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people flesh, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by Judge & Dolph, Enderle Drug Co., Johnson Bros.

Druggists, Wolf-Wilson Drug Co. and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing. Clinical tests made in St. Catharine's Hospital, N. Y. C., showed that two patients gained in weight 23 and 27 pounds, respectively, through the administration of organic phosphate; both patients claim they have not felt as strong and well for the next twelve years. Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health. Physicians and hospitals everywhere are now recognizing its merits by its use in ever-increasing quantities. Frederick Rolfe, M. D., editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says: "Bitro-phosphate should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital to increase strength and nerve force and to enrich the blood."

Joseph D. Harriman, former Valuing Specialist to Northwestern Dispensary, says: "Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anemic or run down take a natural, unadulterated substance, such as bitro-phosphate, and you will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve energy, strength of body and mind and power of endurance."

Bitro-phosphate is made entirely of the organic phosphate compound referred to in the National Standard Dispensary as being an excellent tonic and nerve and a preparation which has recently acquired considerable reputation in the treatment of neurasthenia. The standard of excellence, strength and purity of its substance is beyond question. For every bitro-phosphate tablet is manufactured in strict accordance with the U. S. Pharmacopoeia test requirements. Bitro-phosphate is therefore not a patent medicine and should not be confused with any of the secret nostrums which are so widely advertised "cures."

CATION—While Bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

Rescuing the Waste

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) renders a vital service by giving multiplications of value to that portion of the crude oil left, after gasoline, kerosene and lubricating oils have been extracted, through the production of innumerable by-products, each supplying a definite need.

Thus have been developed products such as Parowax, which serve such useful purposes as a protective coating for cheese, meats and sausages; for match ends; for water-proofing milk bottle caps, ice cream pails and paper drinking cups; and for sealing preserved vegetables, fruits and jellies against bacteria, ferments and mold.

These are but a few of the uses of one of the more than 2000 products manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), covering needful commodities from asphalt to candles.

So vast a program could not be carried out except by a highly specialized organization, developed to maintain numerous contacts with the world of production on one hand, and with the consuming public on the other.

It was the need for such a specialized organization which led to the great development of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). No single function of this great organization has come into being without a definite call to service.

Today the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is big only because the need of its service is great; because the ways in which it is able to serve are continually multiplying as the complexities of modern industrial life increase.

RICCARDI INDICTED ON CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Former St. Louis "Beau Brummel" Accused of Police Court Corruption in California.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—Indictments charging criminal conspiracy were voted here by the County Grand Jury against Police Judge Morris Oppenheim, Peter McDonough, bail bond broker, and Attorney C. Vincent Riccardi, according to announcement by the Grand Jury after a session which extended into morning hours today.

The jurors' announcement said the indictments will contain several counts. They come as the latest development of the jury's investigations into Police Court methods here. Previously the Grand Jury had indicted Police Judge John J. Sullivan and McDonough on charges of receiving and tendering a bribe, respectively.

Former St. Louis "Beau Brummel" Was Indicted in 1913.

Constantine Vincent Riccardi, who during his residence in St. Louis was known as the "Beau Brummel" of the Calaveras Circuit, was indicted in California in 1913, charged with appropriating the funds of clients in Los Angeles. He departed hastily for Monte Carlo about that time. Later he returned and surrendered, but the charges were dismissed. Again, in 1916, he was arrested in Kansas City and brought to St. Louis, where he was charged with defrauding clients. He also beat that case. At that time he had offices in the Boston Bank Building, but the Constable got his office furniture.

HAMMER AND CHISEL USED TO FREE HANDCUFFED MAN

Police Send Hurry Call for Help When Key Breaks in Prisoner's Bracelet.

Detectives and police sent out a hurry call for a hammer and a cold chisel this morning in an effort to free Oliver Holland, 22 years old, Metropole Hotel, from one of a pair of handcuffs in which the key had broken when he was transferred from the Dayton Street Station to headquarters. After an hour's effort a chauffeur with some automobile tools laid Holland's wrist on a radiator and chopped off the handcuff while Holland held the chisel.

Holland was one of three men arrested in front of the New Grand Central Theater, Grand and Lucas avenues, at noon yesterday. Holland and Gaylord Bartholomew, 2810 Olive street, were both found to be armed with pistols. The third man had no weapon.

Holland today denied he and his companions had contemplated holding up the theater office. He said he went into the office and asked them if they could use a singer. When he came outside, he said, he and the other two stood waiting for a "certain party" to come along. "Would there have been a shooting if he had come along?" Holland was asked.

"I expect there would," he replied. He refused to make any further statement. He and Bartholomew are held pending application for warrants for carrying concealed weapons.

BEST MAN AT WEDDING OF HIGHWAYMAN GETS SIX YEARS

Carl Keithly Convicted of Aiding John Jackson in Robbery on Day of His Marriage.

Carl Keithly, 3715 Windsor place, was sentenced yesterday by a jury in the Circuit Court to serve six years in the penitentiary for first degree robbery. He was best man for John Jackson, bridegroom highwayman, who was sentenced last week to 12 years' imprisonment for a holdup which he and Keithly committed Dec. 18 last, which was Jackson's wedding day.

The charge on which Jackson and Keithly were convicted grew out of the holdup of Frank Garlin's oil-filling station at King's highway and Shaw avenue. Witnesses had identified the two men as having held up three other oil-filling stations the same day.

The campaign is scheduled to close tomorrow night, but an effort is to be made at the meeting of the Executive Committee today to extend the drive until the end of the week.

"Why should a child of Edith's age have to wear glasses, Doctor?"

I ASKED the eye specialist this because it seemed so unnecessary that a happy, healthy child, normal in every other way, should have to wear glasses at the age of twelve.

The kindly old specialist leaned back and thought a moment before speaking. "You know," he answered, "or more correctly speaking you probably do not know that we are all more or less the victims of glare and eye-strain. They are insidious enemies of the eyes, at work every waking hour of the day; especially active during the hours that we spend under artificial light.

"It used to be true of my home, and I suppose it is of yours, that the lighting consisted of glowing spots of light spaced at different places in the room, close enough together to relieve the murkiness and make the darkness visible. No attention was paid to the fact that these spots of glare were highly irritating to the eyes, both in themselves and when they were reflected from mirrors and polished surfaces. We all thought that it was one of the discomforts of life that had to be put up with, like the dog-days and mosquitoes.

"And then the other extreme that we all swung to in trying to escape glare was the under-lighted room. This was just as irritating, as injurious and just as productive of eye-strain as over-lighting. It seemed that there was no happy medium. You notice that I say seemed; it is because I have found a way which, by combining the good qualities of direct and indirect lighting, eliminates both glare and gloom. There is so much done nowadays in the way of preventive medicine, that I really regard this new lighting system in that way. I prescribe it as readily as I do glasses, because prevention is so much more effective than remedy.

"Here's a card with the name of this new system on it, and the address of the electrician who can serve you."

I looked at the card as soon as I was outside. The name written on it was "Duplexlighting." The minute I got home I telephoned to the electrician. He asked me the size of my room, general color scheme, and whether the ceiling was light colored. Later that afternoon he arrived and much to my surprise only carried a few cartons under his arm. He said the only way to appreciate the value of Duplex Lighting was to see it, and so I agreed to let him put up a sample in my living room.

He opened one carton, took out the Duplexlighting, and explained it thoroughly to me as he was working. He said: "You see in the first place you should use a Mazda C lamp if you want to get all the light out of the current you pay for; then, because the lamp is so very bright and powerful, the Duplexlighting was designed with the circular metal deflector to cut off strong rays from the eyes and direct them to the ceiling for indirect distribution. The flat glass disc fits under the bottom of the deflector and diffuses the direct light coming straight down"—and that was about all there was to it—very simple and so practical—another of these things that make you wonder why we never had one before. This is what my husband will call simply another application of straight-line reasoning.

Well, it did not take any longer to install Duplexlighting than to tell me about it and so in just a few minutes he switched on the light and I received the real surprise of my life, for it seemed as if the sun had come back over the horizon and bathed the room in soft radiance. It was unlike any artificial light that I had ever seen. The room was filled with a soft brilliancy that clearly illuminated every object in it, and yet the light itself was so soft that it was really the most comfortable light that I had ever known.

It was true that there was no possible chance for eye-strain under a Duplexlighting.

We have lived with Duplexlighting for two weeks now, and are so delighted with it that we have had them installed throughout the house. And my only regret is that we did not hear of Duplexlighting before. It has not been necessary for little Edith to injure her eyesight before we woke up to the necessity of good illumination.

MOONLIGHT CAN NE'ER BE THE SAME AGAIN

That Goes Also for Honeysuckle.
After Seeing Scarborough's Comedy.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

"I was in the mad month of May; the moonlight and the perfume of the honeysuckle."—Thus did Halie Baldwin, gentlewoman and spinster, in the play, "Moonlight and Honeysuckle," at the American Theater last night, begin the narrative of a girl friend who succumbed dolorously to the malign enchantment of the triple influence.

The story is told by way of delicate warning to Miss Baldwin's niece, Judith, daughter of Senator Baldwin of Arizona, lest the like befall her also on this May evening, the glamorous night of her twentieth birthday. That there may be no ribald doubts as to the reality of the girl's peril, there is the moon blazing licentiously upon the Potosi, in plain view; while, just outside the windows of the Senator's house in Washington, a shameless clump of honeysuckle spreads an expanse of snowy, salacious petals.

"It was in the mad month of May; the moonlight and the perfume of the honeysuckle"—so, a few minutes later, does Judith rehearse the tale for the first of her superfluity of four suitors, Congressman Hammond. The guileless vestal has conceived the idea of testing the devotion of her lovers by pretending that she herself was the heroine of the story. It is true that she has about decided to refuse three of them, but if they are not put to the ordeal what would become of the plot? The Congressman hurriedly telephones a countermand to the announcement of his engagement which he had prepared for the newspapers.

Story Repeated Six Times.

"It was in the mad month of May; the moonlight and the perfume of the honeysuckle"—the old, familiar words echo once more as Judith repeats the fiction of her mishap for the benefit of Courtney Blue, society coxcomb, the second of her wooers. His reply is to snatch from her finger an engagement ring which he has just ordered by telephone from a well-known St. Louis firm of Washington jewelers.

Three times more we must hear the savory episode recited. Blue tells it to Judith's father, and the heartbroken parent, in the abandon of his anguish, proposes that he and the Widow Langley take advantage, by eloping, of the auspicious conjunction of May, moonlight and honeysuckle fragrance. They do so, but not before the Senator has repeated the story of his daughter's supposed disgrace to the third of her suitors, Tod Musgrave, an Arizona cowboy and former aviator. The Widow Langley is also moved, for some reason, to tell the narrative to Judith, who has heard it before. Long before this the audience is convinced that never again will it find quite the same savor in May time, moonlight or the odor of honeysuckle.

Blue suspects that Congressman Hammond is the "damned rascal" in the case—the first "x" in racial being in Arizona and Washington circles pronounced as in "ah." Hammond in turn suspects Blue, because of his cynical views on matrimony.

The Cowboy's Truism, 44.

Musgrave, a paragon of Western chivalry, with his trusty six-gun well within reach, herds his rivals into the drawing room to extract a confession from one of them. He is almost convinced that the villain must be the fourth suitor, an absent naval officer, when Judith ingeniously suggests that in a multitude of possible scoundrels it may be difficult for her to name the right one. In the consternation that follows, there is nothing for the poor maiden to do except dance a Spanish fandango, to tinklings on the guitar by the bloodthirsty Musgrave.

Masterpiece of Fatuity.

To end the suspense, Judith finally confesses her ruse, chides all the male members of the cast for their instantaneous belief in her "past," and bestows her hand upon the cowboy paladin, as she had intended from the first. Thus falls the curtain upon one of the most fatuous plays ever presented in this city.

Whenever the action flagged or the dialogue floundered, which was every few minutes, the playwright, George Scarborough, fell back upon the old reliable "It was in the mad month of May." Such gems were interspersed as "Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest is this: I'm two times ten," or else there were references, regarding the suitors, to the Arabs who were noted for silently folding their tents and fading away. Not even the actors themselves could take the play seriously.

On watching the theatrical, affected and self-complacent performance of Ruth Chatterton in the repellent part of Judith, one could not help but wonder whether he had really seen—and feared he would never see again in her—the simplicity, sincerity and innocent girlishness which seemed to characterize her playing in last year's comedy, "Come Out of the Kitchen." Corliss Giles, as Musgrave, remarked in the course of the play that he was "a hell of a hero." His proposal in the last act would have exasperated the most desperate spinster into an explosive "No!" Edward Fielding and Sydney Booth were the Senator and Congressman; no one expects much of our national legislators these days. The one natural and well-acted part in the cast was that of a negro servant of the old school, played by Lawrence Edinger. The audience was of moderate size.

Fined for Selling Unclean Milk.

C. R. Bosworth, 42 years old, a dairyman of Washington Park, Ill., was fined $10 and costs today by Justice Kane of East St. Louis, on a charge of selling milk that was unclean and short in solids.

FORD FAMILY SHINES ON ORPHEUM PROGRAM

It is a great week for Fords at the Orpheum. Not the kind that stand outside and wait while their owners enjoy the performance, but the dancing kind that furnishes the diversion inside. First off there is Johnnie Ford, with his five original melody maids, who first do a bit of parading and then play simultaneously on five pianos, while Johnnie keeps it in the public mind that he is one of the best soft-shoe dancers in the two-day.

Further along on the bill come the Ford sisters in a dancing act all their own. They are Mabel and Dora and they are Johnnie's "little sisters," as he tells the audience at a reunion after their act. The sisters have their full share of the talent of this remarkable dancing family.

The Ford sisters dance with their feet, not their shoulders, in an amazingly clever terpsichorean duet and they are accompanied by one of the best jazz orchestras carried by an act of this kind.

Closely crowding the Fords for first honors is Owen McGivney, a remarkable quick change actor, who stages a five-part scene from "Bill Sikes" and plays all five parts himself. His alacrity and the quickness of his changes challenge belief in their possibility, but he offers a reward to anyone who can prove that he does not play the five parts.

On the bill also are Howard's forming dogs and ponies, Flo and Ollie Walters, singing comedians, George Watts and Belle Hays, singers and funmakers, and Wyatt and his Scotch Lads and Lasses.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight denunciations of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

City's Low Infant Mortality Rate.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The infant mortality rate for St. Louis in 1919—that is the number of deaths under one year to each 1000 births—was only 75.2, which I believe to be the lowest rate ever reached by a large city. The general rate for the United States is at present between 100 and 110, or from 35 to 45 per cent higher than the rate for St. Louis. There has been a steady decrease in the infant death rate in St. Louis in recent years, except for the influenza deaths in 1918. Ten years ago the rate was 113 and five years ago, in 1914, it reached 103. This decrease in infant mortality has taken place despite the fact that St. Louis as a whole is not a particularly "healthy" place, as we have a very high death rate from tuberculosis and the draft showed one of the highest venereal disease rates in America.

The chief reason for the low death rate among infants lies in the campaign for the education of mothers in the care of the infant, and in the system of supervision of infants during their first year of life by the Public Health Nurses, and in the Infant Welfare Conferences conducted by the Municipal Nurses' Board. This work has been conducted in the congested parts of the city. Last year 5832 babies were under the care of the nurses and 470 conferences were held with a physician trained in the care of the infant in attendance. A recent survey shows that of the last 1500 babies coming under the care of the Municipal Nurses' Board 77 per cent were breast fed, 10 per cent partially breast fed and only 13 per cent fed on cow's milk or other infant foods. Herein lies the explanation of the low mortality rate. The badly-nourished marionette infant has almost been banished from St. Louis. At present there are 10 health centers for "well baby" clinics operated by the city, one by one of the medical schools and one by the Red Cross. The Red Cross is establishing two additional—one in Carondelet and one in North St. Louis. The work in all of these centers is correlated and unified so that practically it amounts to one system under the Municipal Nurses' Board.

The nature of the work is such that it must be continued year after year. Any let-up will mean a rise in the infant mortality rate. About 14,000 new babies are born in St. Louis each year and there are always "new mothers" to be educated. But it is possible to reduce this 75.2 rate much lower—to even equal the New Zealand rate of 16, the lowest in the world. About half of these 75 babies die in the first month of life. By extending the nursing and medical service to the mothers before the baby is born and during childbirth, these deaths can be greatly reduced. All that is needed is more nurses and the services of an obstetrician a few hours each week. St. Louis has a golden opportunity to lead America in being the safest place for a baby to be born and the healthiest place for a child to be reared.

BORDEN S. VEEDER, M. D.,
Chairman Visiting Nurses Committee,
Municipal Nurses' Board.

Psychology of the Profitless.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

That there may be something in the present belief in the guilt of the profiteer as shown by the attitude of a local merchant who took advantage of the "necessity" of marking up the price of potatoes. Two days ago this gentleman was selling potatoes at $1 a peck retail. He still had some of his stock left when he learned that the wholesale price had advanced 10 cents a bushel. Asked what he would sell the remainder of his stock for, he replied that he would have to have $1.10 a peck. The 40 cents a bushel thus added to cover the wholesale increase of 10 cents, which he had not yet paid, aptly illustrates the ingenious working of the mind of the profiteer who can make a mile out of an inch.

ANONYMOUS.

Annexation.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

When a County Judge says that the majority of the people in St. Louis County are against annexation, he is just talking through his hat, and has no authority from me and 90 per cent of the people who would vote for annexation, to make such a statement. The politicians who are afraid of losing their jobs are the only obstacles between annexation and a greater St. Louis.

RICHMOND HEIGHTS.

A Boost for Dyer.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There is not a man in or out of politics that has done more to try and better the condition of the colored people than Congressman L. C. Dyer. As a whole, his untiring efforts have brought great results to our race. The anti-lynching bill was for the benefit of the negro alone. In regard to running a negro for Congressman of the Twelfth District—if it is true, I am sure that is not the sentiment of the well thinking negro but rather of a small faction. We all know that the time is not ripe and will not be for some time to come for such a thing. Every child crawls before it can walk. So it is with the negro race. I am a booster for the advancement of the negro race and advise Mr. Dyer to keep up his good work and no uneasiness, pay no heed to every dog that barks, for the sensible negro is with him.

A GLEAM OF REASON.

The President's order to his faithful followers in Congress to kill the Republican peace resolution forebodes a long struggle over, if not the defeat of, that measure. At best it is a mere makeshift, hardly worth a struggle. The plan to have the President proclaim peace under a resolution of Congress is no better. Either proceeding would lift war restrictions, but neither would establish peace on a sound basis of agreement as to terms.

A sensible proposal is that fathered by Samuel Colcord of New York, and urged on the President by a delegation composed of President Lowell of Harvard, Cleveland Dodge, former Attorney-General Wickersham, Edmund Dwight, Hamilton Holt and others not connected with any special organization. It will be presented to the Senate later. The plan is for the Senate to ratify the treaty with all reservations acceptable to both sides in the controversy, leaving only those articles in the peace covenant upon which no agreement can be reached to be referred to the people for decision.

The adoption of this plan would at least dispose of the peace treaty and establish peace in the only way in which it can be established on a sound basis. It would free us from all war restrictions and enable us to enter untrammelled upon the work of peace reconstruction and the revival of trade with all the peoples of Europe. It would reduce the moot points between the two leading parties to a minimum, either for popular referendum or for negotiation with the allied Powers.

We doubt if, in the personal and platform issues of a presidential campaign, a clear issue could be made of the League of Nations, but this course would tend to clarify it. It would reduce the points of disagreement to a minimum and would enable the parties and the people to make an issue of them, if they earnestly desired to do it.

The proposal is a gleam of reason in the murk of animosity, partisanship and stubbornness in which the peace treaty is submerged. Will the leaders of the deadlock listen to reason and act in accord with it?

In this respect the proposal is a searcher of hearts. It is difficult to see how either side can refuse to act upon all those points on which both agree, without confessing to a partisan or personal desire to throw the whole question into the campaign, at a tremendous sacrifice of public welfare in this country and throughout the civilized world.

The public welfare is the paramount issue which ought to govern all other considerations. It demands the earliest possible determination of the question of peace. With that out of the way there will be opportunity for settling disputes over moot points in the peace covenant.

If the warring forces follow the sentiment of the public the controversy will be settled in short order. The people want peace, they want the peace treaty ratified in any reasonable form which will assure peace and the co-operation of the nations to maintain peace with justice.

THE FRENCH GUARANTIES.

Andre Tardieu, formerly French High Commissioner to the United States, and one of the lieutenants of Clemenceau, is publishing a series of revelations of the workings of the peace conference in the French paper, Illustration. In his latest article he makes the startling statement that the Franco-American and Franco-British alliance was the quid pro quo for yielding the French demand for the annexation of German Rhine territory; and that in the absence of the fulfillment of this condition the validity of the treaty as containing this intended application. The pertinent part of the article is:

(3) At the expiration of fifteen years there will be evacuated the bridgehead of Mainz, the bridgehead of Kehl, and the remainder of the German territory under occupation.

If at that date the guarantees against unprovoked aggression by Germany are not considered sufficient by the allied and associate governments, the evacuation of the occupying troops may be delayed to the extent regarded as necessary for the purpose of obtaining the required guarantees.

M. Tardieu asserts that the guarantees referred to in this article have direct reference to the alliance and that Clemenceau was thus anticipating the possible failure of the treaty of peace in the United States to give France alternative protection. The last paragraph of the article quoted clearly gives to the allied and associated Powers a very large discretion in exacting guarantees from Germany, which may well include the annexation of the left bank of the Rhine by France. But as surely as such a step is taken a new Alsace-Lorraine will be created, threatening again to deluge the world in blood.

Great Britain has ratified her treaty of alliance with France, while the Franco-American draft is

VINDICATION OF THE LA FOLLETTE ACT

Doubts as to the legality of various features of the La Follette seamen's act, which had poignant expression from our worried vessel interests, are now virtually all cleared up.

After the decisions on the railroad men's eight-hour day there could be little uncertainty as to the power of Congress to prescribe working conditions in our foreign and coastwise commerce as well as in our interstate commerce. But there was uneasiness over the requirements prescribed for vessels under other flags as a condition to entering our waters. If these requirements were not upheld, our ships would be placed at a further disadvantage with foreign ships. So it was said.

The great feature of the bill was its repeal of old laws under which sailors could be arrested for desertion who left their employment on ships. It permitted them to demand half their wages for a voyage on the completion of half a round trip between ports. This provision necessitated the amendment of 21 treaties obligating us to arrest for desertion sailors who left employment on the vessels of as many countries, the obligation being balanced by a like agreement to perform a similar kindness for our sailors who might quit their jobs in such foreign ports.

A Russian ship at Mobile was one of the first to resist this provision. Since then various questions have arisen, affected by different treaty stipulations and the character of the shipping laws of other countries. The validity of the act has now withstood all attack and with the certainty of its complete legality has come a stronger conviction as to its expediency and soundness.

We see now that vessel men who sold their ships after the approval of the bill in 1915 did so because of the new and exorbitant prices obtainable for vessel property and not because of the La Follette act, as they alleged. They were simply trying to discredit the act because of transactions that would have come about anyway, had the act never been passed. Perhaps some part of the reproach they attempted to attach to the new law as having diminished our merchant marine at a most critical time should attach to them because of sales influenced only by profits.

The Titanic and other disasters had shown that the provisions as to safety appliances were needed. The painful incidents of many years had shown the need for the provisions insuring sailors, as well as other workers, a square deal.

The price of 25 cents for a shave shows the barbers are determined that the safety razor will cut a still wider swath.

THE WARNING OF THE BIG WIND.

The high wind and the heavy, improperly secured cornice are still a deadly combination in various parts of the country. A late fatality in St. Louis was due to this cause, a second person also being severely injured. Some cornices on high buildings are so heavy that their own weight adds to the danger of breaking away under the wind pressure of a strong gale. We know that air currents of extreme velocity are certain to come at intervals. We know, too, that under the law of probabilities as revealed in the past, a certain number of cornices will be wobbly. Why doesn't the Building Inspector do something? This week's warning should result in a rigid examination of the exposed parts of buildings, especially of those that may be weakened by age.

The blasts of Sunday destroyed thousands of square feet of plate glass. Is the skill of our glaziers deteriorating or is plate glass being made less adequate to strain than the plate glass of the past?

To say he is 100 per cent American does scant justice to Henry Cabot Lodge, whose national colors are red, white and blue and green.

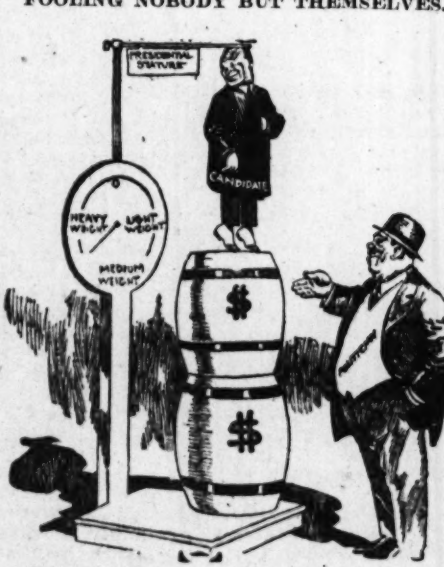

AFTER THE OIL FAKERS.

In requiring all oil companies to have permits from the State Bank Examiner before undertaking to sell their stock in St. Louis, Prosecuting Attorney Sidener is actuated by praiseworthy motives.

The country is squandering money, by hundreds of millions, in worthless oil stock, to the serious inconvenience and injury of legitimate enterprise, to say nothing of the personal loss of the dupes. St. Louis, presumably, is contributing its quota to the vendors of fake oil stock. The Sidener plan would reduce, if it did not wholly stop, this leakage.

The vast sales in spurious oil stocks are evidence of the fact that our blue sky laws have not come up to expectations. From the failure of such enactments it may be argued that further attempts, such as the Sidener permit plan, will be impotent. Such conclusion, however, is attained by cynicism rather than by logic. The Sidener requirement may not put the vendors of valueless oil shares out of business, but, at the very least, it will make it somewhat more difficult for them to get into business here. On that modest claim alone the plan is worth a trial.

AT THE MELTING POINT.

SAID the Chinese, Chuang Tse, speaking at the funeral of the great sage, Lao Tse, "What we can point to are the fagots which have been consumed; but the FIRE is transmitted elsewhere."

Said the American scientist, Elliott Coues, speaking on the origin and meaning of human life: "Viewing the intense and vivid molecular activities, the combustion and deflagration of tissue, which attend the generation of every thought and are necessary to the manifestation of thought, though in no sense its originators, it is scarcely using metaphorical language to say that MIND RESIDES AT THE MELTING-POINT OF MATTER IN SPIRIT."

So that, in order to manifest through human organs, it appears to be necessary that spirit BURN up matter. Can we imagine the reason for this apparent necessity?

Let us consider the universe, from the standpoint of the believer in duality—spirit and matter. On the one hand we have the force called spirit. It is conscious, or contains the potentiality of consciousness. On the other hand we have matter—not the "dead" matter of the old-time materialist or theologian, but matter, as objective to spirit; a universe without self-consciousness, though it may be imbued with tremendous energies, derived from the subjective world of spirit.

What is to be done to make such a dual universe useful if it be not to raise the objective to the condition of the subjective; to convert matter into spirit?

Our own experience contains the answer. We are at once subjective and objective—spirit and matter. And our entire life is lived in the work of RAISING THE OBJECTIVE to the condition of the SUBJECTIVE. In other words, our whole existence is spent in the work of extending our self-consciousness. That work is nothing more nor less than the conversion of matter into spirit, the raising out of the plane of blind force, into the plane of conscious force, the atoms and molecules which we absorb from the outside world. We eat food; it is converted into flesh, nerve and brain tissue. And in this conversion it becomes a sharer of our consciousness, to the degree in which it is assimilated.

The spirit side of the universe is eternally engaged in the work of subjectifying the material, or objective side of the universe. This is typified by the theological idea of attaining to unity with God. It is pictured in the Buddhist idea of Nirvana or absorption into the Divine.

The bush is burned for the sake of the fire. The material is consumed for the sake of the spiritual. But in being so "consumed" it is not destroyed but elevated to a higher plane. The gold is melted in order to purify it. And the corporeality which race through the brain and which, having been melted out of the brain in the process of thought or emotion, no longer appear in visible union with other corporeality, are raised to the plane of spirit, having acquired consciousness in the process.

How, then, does the opposite action come about? How is the material side of nature reconstructed? Through the same process. For it is to be remembered that not a cell can be consumed, to produce a thought or emotion unless that cell is first created. Manifestation of spirit is a dual act—a birth and a death (a death only in appearance), a creation and a dissolution. In order that the subjective may raise the objective to its plane of consciousness it must first reduce its own level to that of the objective, fulfilling the scripture saying that "The Word became flesh and dwelt among us." Incarnation first; then apotheosis.

And thus the bush which is consumed grows forever. Here is the Tree of Life which is for the healing of the nations. Here is the perpetual wonder, the universal magic. Here is the secret of Life, in which is no death nor the shadow of death.

THE WOMAN VOTER.

From Collier's.

THE woman voter is regarded by certain segments of the public as a dirty word. As being an uncertain factor in American Government. Some are apprehensive lest she with her 20,000,000 may add to the errors of sentimentalism out of which we have been pulling one foot after another for a long time. These escaped errors are chalked up on our recent history: Flabby pacifism as distinguished from verile pacifism; soft preaching in place of hard practice; talk rather than action; an attempt to deal with a world as we would like to conceive it, rather than with the world as it is, making ourselves happier by insisting on making someone else better rather than making ourselves better by making others happier; a self-selected statesmanship equipped with better intention than intelligence, and too much emphasis upon the rights of mankind and too little on the obligations of mankind. Will the women of America make their new political influence felt in favor of impractical sentimentalism? We do not believe it. There may always be the conspicuous woman who is "thrilled beyond words" over the doggedness of purpose to obtain just and definite practical nobility; the less noisy and emotionally rank and file are those who want square chin into the war, who have a littler clearer vision than men for the detection of hypocrisy and the dissection of generalities, and even more doggedness of purpose to obtain just and definite practical nobility; LETTERS OF THE CZARINA TO THE CZAR IN WAR TIME

THE CZARINA

Self-Revelations of the Imperious Woman Who Ruled Russia and Obeyed a Peasant Monk.

Amazing Documents Which Disclose the True Reasons for the Downfall of the Romanoffs.

FIRST ARTICLE—WHAT THE LETTERS SHOW.

By Isaac Don Levine.

A LARGE black case bearing the number 13 and the engraved initials "N. A." was found among the personal effects of the Romanoffs after the Czar, the Czarina and their five children had been assassinated in Ekaterinburg July 16, 1918. In the black case, which belonged to Nicholas Alexandrovich, the Czar, there were 73 letters from the German Kaiser and 402 letters from the Czarina.

The original letters are now kept in Moscow. I examined them during my stay in Soviet Russia in October, 1919, and caused copies of them to be made. The letters from the Czarina, written in the years 1914, 1915 and 1916, impressed me as the most amazing human documents in modern history. In comparison with these letters the 73 letters of the Kaiser to the Czar, remarkable as they were, seemed of secondary importance.

The Czarina's correspondence combines every element that enters into the drama of life. Here is revealed the mind of the last real Empress on earth, strong willed, beautiful, narrow, jealous, religious to the point of fanaticism, the most misguided woman in the world, who dominated her imperial husband, ruling him and his one hint that her relations with Rasputin were other than those of a disciple to an apostle.

To the Czarina the uncouth monk was the "friend." She never calls him Rasputin, which is Russian for "take." To her is either "Friend" or "Gregory." She is furious whenever anybody refers to him as Rasputin. He is "a man of God" and she repeatedly speaks of him by this term to the Czar.

There are three outstanding figures in this extraordinary drama—the Czarina, Rasputin and Anna Virubova. The Czarina was, however, clay in the crafty hands of Virubova and Rasputin. Virubova—or "Ania," as she is familiarly called by the Czarina—is the young woman who introduced the monk to the court. The daughter of a Russian functionary, Taneiev, she had been befriended by the Empress some years previous. In time the Empress became her slave and the Emperor her lover.

So great was the faith of the Czarina in Rasputin that his word was never for a moment doubted by her. More than once the Czarina complains of Virubova's relations with the Czar. Often she speaks of Virubova sharply and bitterly, yet she continues to visit Ania almost daily, passing hours with her and Rasputin, Taneiev, she had been befriended by the Empress some years previous. In time the Empress became her slave and the Emperor her lover.

The letters fortunately were written in English, the language of the Russian imperial family. The Czarina, although a German Princess, was a granddaughter of Queen Victoria and had received an English education. Her English is quaint and frequently ungrammatical, but always rich and expressive. In her letters she pours out her love for Nicholas in words that breathe unbounded passion, tenderness and yearning. If they contained nothing else but love sentiments these letters would still constitute one of the finest stories in the annals of literature.

Orders to the Weakening Czar.

But there is in these letters the complete unveiling of that heretofore mysterious background where the notorious "dark forces" operated. For the first time in history a mighty court, with all its sinister intrigues, is disclosed in its disgusting starkness before the world. For the first time a hundred puzzling questions of great historic moment are answered with a clearness and finality that is shocking.

We learn that the Czar was a mere nonentity. "Bang on the table," she frequently advises him. "You must be firm." "Don't dawdle." "Russia loves to feel the whip." Phrases like these permeate the letters. "How I wish I could pour my will into your veins," the Czarina writes to her "agony-we-one" as she calls her imperial husband. She never tires of telling the Czar that he is the autocrat, the master, and that he should act accordingly.

THE FIRST OF

The Love Letters of An Empress

THESE letters constitute a feature absolutely unparalleled in human interest and world drama. Love, intrigue, favoritism, tyranny, trucking are interwoven in this picture of the mightiest and most unstable court in the world.

In fiction or fact there has never been a story quite like this. Writing to her husband at his Main Headquarters (the City of Mogilev) this devoted wife, imperious Queen and beautiful woman, writes without reserve or caution to her husband and Emperor.

Hardly a letter fails to mention that menacing, uncouth, peasant figure, the monk Rasputin. No earlier records of Rasputin have disclosed, as do these letters, his complete domination of the mind of the Czarina and, through her, of the Czar.

This granddaughter of Queen Victoria had no fear of handling the fate and future of Russia. Her orders to the Czar to make and unmake Ministers, Generals and Governments, though veiled in the language of affection, are as decisive as the commands of an officer to his men.

At the same time as the Czarina was writing "My sweetest Treasure" and "My own beloved Darling" she was enclosing letters from Anna Virubova, who she knew had illicit love relations with the Czar—fearing that if she refused she would find some other way to communicate and a scandal might be caused.

Prince Lvov, the president of the Union of Zemstvos, P. M. Milukov, the leader of the Constitutional Democrats; Polivanov, the progressive Minister of War—all these ardent friends of the allies are in her view fit to be hanged.

The Rule of the Czarina.

Gradually the Empress concentrated all power in her hands. In 1914 and largely in 1915 she is still absorbed in her hospital work and indulges in politics only occasionally. But as time goes on we see all threads running into the palace at Tsarskoye Selo, where the Czarina received the Ministers, read their reports and acted upon them and where she wrote these startling letters for the part played by these communications in the history of Russia was enormous. Through them Ministers were appointed and discharged, Generals promoted and dismissed, orders affecting the whole structure of Russian life issued and canceled.

The Czarina ruled the Czar through these letters. The two passed very little time together during the war. Nicholas was at the front, at main army headquarters. It is there that she addressed to him most of the correspondence. Necessarily, since she wielded such tremendous power, these letters become important state papers. To be sure, they are not written in the traditional form of state papers. They are not written in a blunt, sometimes a little too blunt, for instance, when she says that "the Ministers are rotten—they need your iron will, which you will show, won't you?" In the same letter she says, "I am more than disgusted with those cowards," referring to the Ministers.

Standards Set by the Monk.

The wealth of revelations contained in these pages is too vast to be fully summarized here. Gorky, Sturmer, Protodanov, Khvostov, Sukhomlinov—these, as well as all the other Russian Premiers and Ministers during the war, are revealed in all their intellectual and moral depravity. He who was a protégé of Rasputin was good and able. He who was against the monk had to contend with the venomous and relentless persecution of the Czarina.

Brusilov, Ivanov, Ruzsky, Gurko, Kuvshinov and all the other leading Russian Generals pass before us in review, as seen by one for whom Russia—nay, the whole world—was divided into good or bad, according to Rasputin's word. At one time Rasputin suggests that Rodzianko's favor be won by bestowing upon him a court rank. At another time, under the influence of the same Rasputin, the Czarina writes: "I wish one could hang Rodzianko."

The letters do not show that the Czarina plotted for a separate peace with Germany. On the whole, she cannot be called the pro-German plotter and conspirator she is said to have been. Here and there appear signs of her being in touch with her relatives in Germany. Once in a while she gives vent to her abhorrence of the war and her desire for peace. Only once does she give expression to anti-allyed feelings. This was on the occasion of Lord Kitchener's death. But even then it was Rasputin's, not her own, opinion that she passes on to the Czar. Rasputin was glad that Kitchener was drowned, she tells Nicholas, because Great Britain will have the best of Russia at the end of the war.

When Rasputin was slain. The letters of the Czarina begin with an exquisite love missive written from peaceful Crimea. In the spring of 1914, three months before the war broke out, they end on Dec. 30, 1916, the day following Rasputin's murder at the house of Prince Yusupov, with this poignant cry: "I cannot and won't believe he has been killed. God have mercy!"

The Czarina was prostrated by the event. The Czar hurried to her bedside from the front, to lose his throne and liberty several weeks later at the hands of his people brought to the point of rebellion by the misery, tyranny and corruption of a Government run by a crafty peasant monk and a naive but domineering woman who was unfortunately enough to become the wife of the weakening Czar of all the Russias.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

TO A SONG SPARROW.

Morning, Mr. Sparrow,
Swinging to and fro,
Caroling a song o' spring,
Through the falling snow.
What is that you're singing?
"Skies will soon be blue?"
Wish that we could ever be
As full of hope as you.

Long before the robin
Takes his northward way
You are here to pipe the cheer
Of flower-sprinkled May.
Still the winter tempests
Blow like all possessed;
But nothing chills the hope that thrills
Your dauntless little breast.

Last to leave in autumn,
First to come in spring,
In snow or hail, or breeze or gale
You sing and sing and sing!
O'yle blue-jays float you,
Crows sneer, dour and glum;
Still you shout your tidings out
Of better days to come!

Even when you're happy
Prophecies go wrong.
Beneath the leaf of some great tree,
You lift your voice in song.
And though the snow-flakes whiten
Your sturdy little wing,
Your lifting voice proclaims, "Rejoice!
One sparrow makes a spring!"

A GOOD TIME COMING.
The problem of colored unemployment in the South will soon be relieved by the demand for delegates to the G. O. P. convention at Chicago.

THE RUNNER UP.
Mexico has had 52 revolutions in 63 years. But just give Germany a little time!

The Usual Comment.
In an infant school the teacher chose the miracle of the water being turned into wine as the subject of the usual Bible lesson.
In telling the story she occasionally asked a few questions. One of them was:
"When the new wine was brought to the governor of the feast, what did he say?"
A little girl, remembering what she had heard, probably on some festive occasion, called out:
"Here's luck!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Wife: Tom, the pastor is coming to make a call this evening and I want you to treat him with proper respect.
Gayboy: Sure thing! What do you want me to do?
Wife: Refrain from talking about anything you are interested in.—Boston Transcript.

Rash Statement.
At the Workmen's Institute there rose a fierce discussion as to whether women should be given a chance of filling the high appointments.
"I wouldn't do!" said a youthful and newly married firebrand. "Just think of a woman as a Secretary of the Treasury. What do they know about finance, anyway?"
His effective pause was spoiled by an older man, who said, solemnly:
"You just go home to the missus next Friday night $5 short in your pay, and you'll soon find out!"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Hardly.

"Pop!"

"Yes, my son."

"This paper says a fool is born every minute."

"Yes, my boy."

"Well, pop, the stork isn't responsible for them, too, is it?"—Yonkers Statesman.

MUTT, I HEARD A

HE KEPT USING THE

WHAT'S THE

THOSE WORDS?

YOUR HUNGER

I'LL ENDEAVOR TO ENLIGHTEN
YOU, OLD DEAR.

TO SIMPLIFY MY EXPLANATION
OF "TRAGEDY" AND "STRATEGY"
I ASK YOU TO KINDLY PLACE YOUR HAT ON THE FLOOR.

NOW WE'LL IMAGINE THE HOUR IS
MIDNIGHT AND THE ROOM PITCH
DARK. REMEMBER, YOUR HAT IS ON THE FLOOR.

I ENTER THE ROOM AND
ON ACCOUNT OF THE DARKNESS CANNOT
SEE YOUR HAT. I STEP ON IT—AND FROM YOUR POINT OF VIEW THAT'S A TRAGEDY.

BUT, IF YOU HAD HUNG YOUR HAT UP IN THE

WOULD HAVE BEEN AN ACT OF STRATEGY
ON YOUR PART.
